COUNCIL ORDERS COLORADO IMPROVEMENT!

Protest Acceptance Of Glendale Avenue Paving

COMMITTEE SPLIT OVER REPORT ON PROJECT

Meeting of Property Owners Votes to Take Action On Improvement

A formal protest against the acceptance and payment for the pavement laid on Glendale avenue from Cerritos avenue to Lexington drive will probably be filed soon with the City Council, following the action of property owners last night, when a special meeting was called at 109 South Glendale avenue.

The protest, according to a report of a special committee appointed May 24 by property owners to inspect the pavement, is the first legal step and will form the basis of court action in the event the paving company fails to maintain and repair the street in accordance with its contract.

Owners Sign Protest
Several property owners, present at the meeting, signed the protest before leaving. Others are expected to sign it today. The motion to file a protest carried, after a bitter debate and verbal clashes between the two factions.

In the absence of Mrs. M. L. Tight, appointed chairman at a special meeting held a week before, Henry C. Jacobs was named acting chairman, with S. J. McClish as secretary. Members of the committee appointed last week to inspect the paving and make a report were: Mr. Jacobs, Mr. McClish, C. W. Bacon, J. K. Todd and H. C. Levey.

Approximately fifty property owners living in the assessment district crowded into the office of the Inglede Realty company, 109 South Glendale avenue, last night to hear the report and recommendations of the committee.

Committee Split
Early in the proceedings it was apparent there had been a split in the special committee, and it was after the reading of the report that a break was evident. Mr. McClish had read the committee's report and Mr. Jacobs spoke of a letter the committee had received from A. J. Hill, general sales manager for the National Pavements Corporation of California, the firm laying the pavement. Mr. Jacobs asked Mr. McClish to read the letter.

ASK INDICTMENTS OF CHICAGO BOYS

List Two Crimes In 'Thrill' Murder, Death Penalty In Each Case

CHICAGO, June 3.—Two crimes for which the penalty is death were to be outlined to the grand jury today with the stern intention of securing indictments charging both kidnapping and murder against two petted sons of wealth.

This was the realization confronting Nathan E. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, confessed slayers, each heir to millions, as they awoke in the cells at the Cook county jail to which their search for "a different adventure" had led them.

It was the first time in jail for the brilliant university student who confessed their scheme with Nachlaevian cunning for nine months, to make a victim of one of several boys of the ultra-exclusive Kenwood section, then chosen Little Robert Franks, Loeb's cousin, and killed him "for the thrill."

Since their arrest late Thursday, Loeb and Leopold have slept in hotels, carefully guarded by detectives.

Peggy Joyce Weds Swedish Noble Who Makes Tooth Paste

CHICAGO, June 3.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce is married again. The latest catch of the internationally famous queen of hearts is Count Gosta Morner, 29, a member of the Swedish nobility, at present the head of a newly organized tooth paste concern, with a plant at Highland Park, Ill. The ceremony took place yesterday at Atlantic City and the couple today are honeymooning somewhere in the east, it was learned here today.

PACIFIST ISSUE ROUSES TURMOIL

Delegates to Women's Meet In Bitter Wrangle Over Peace Resolution

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Machinery of the seventeenth biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs had scarcely started at the opening session of the eleven day meeting here today when a bitter fight began among the 3500 delegates following an attempt to put the club women on record as to pacifism.

The initial storm of the conference broke after the upper Mississippi valley conference of state federations passed resolutions asking the federation to state its position as neither favoring pacifism or disarmament. The Mississippi conference is composed of the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota, and Iowa and is one of the strongest factions represented at the convention.

New Jersey delegates announced today they will present a resolution recommending definite action be taken to prevent pollution of all American rivers and streams.

Shriners Open Golden Jubilee of Council

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 3.—Shrinism was here today for the golden jubilee of its imperial council. The formal opening of the convention was signaled with the uniformed parade this morning headed by Imperial Potentate Conrad V. Dykeman of Brooklyn, N. Y. This immense colorful parade was estimated, was to take four hours for the 15,000 marchers to pass.

Methodist Bishop Is Victim of Paralysis

OMAHA, June 3.—Bishop Homer C. Stuntz, 66, of the Methodist Episcopal church, died here today after a lingering illness following a paralytic stroke suffered in Miami, Fla., in February.

TO FLY BY NIGHT

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Forty-eight hour mail service between this city and New York is promised after July 1, according to word received by Dr. Ford Carpenter of the meteorological department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. This will be made possible by airplanes flying at night from Chicago to Cheyenne over an illuminated trail.

KILL MORE CATTLE

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Two hundred and sixty-nine head of cattle were slaughtered in the Hynes district today to further blot out the foot and mouth disease in that one isolated infected area. Close to 94,000 head of cattle, valued at more than three and a quarter million of dollars, have been killed in the state's fight against the plague.

EMPLOYMENT DECLINES

DETROIT, Mich., June 3.—Employment here declined 6,511 in the last week to a total of 213,589. This compares with 223,971 the corresponding week of last year and is 14,382 below the high points for 1924.

CROSSING AT LOS FELIZ OUTLINED

Council Discusses Question With County Committee; No Action Taken

A large delegation of Glendale city officials and business men attended a luncheon held at the offices of the Automobile Club of Southern California in Los Angeles yesterday, when the matter of the proposed sub-grade crossing where the Southern Pacific tracks cross Los Feliz road came up for a lengthy discussion.

After consideration of many phases of the situation, the matter was referred back to the Los Angeles county grade crossing committee, without any definite recommendation.

Council Attends

Among those who attended from Glendale were Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman S. S. Gilhuly, Asa Hall and C. E. Kimlin, all members of the planning commission; T. W. Watson, P. J. Hayselden, S. E. Kinch, Harry Hagare and J. H. Randall; V. B. Hone, city manager; W. H. Reeves, city engineer, and member of the county grade crossing committee; J. M. Boland, W. A. Horn, O. M. Newby and Ben S. Dupuy, city engineer. Several representatives of the engineering boards of the city and county and the automobile club were also present.

It was brought out at the meeting that a certain sum was voted at the last bond election for the construction of bridges, although in the election no specific site for the work was designated.

Los Feliz Bridge

It is understood, according to those who attended the luncheon, that the bridge over the Los Angeles river on Los Feliz road is practically assured, and that part of the money realized from the sale of the bonds will be used for this purpose. There has been no official statement to this effect, however.

Speaking for the planning commission, the local organization that will have much to do with the furtherance of the project in this city, Secretary Hayselden said this morning:

"It seems like the right time to go ahead with the sub-grade crossing when the bridge is being

FEDERAL OFFICER TO GIVE ADDRESS

Rex B. Goodcell, Collector Of Internal Revenue, Down on Program

Rex B. Goodcell, collector of revenue, will address the mass meeting of the Greater Los Angeles association tomorrow night, June 4, in the Harvard High school auditorium, telling why this great body that has for its slogan "Keep the White Spot White" will benefit not only Southern California in general but Glendale in particular. The meeting will be presided over by Charles B. Guthrie, president of the local branch, and will open at 8 o'clock.

President Harry H. Merrick of the Greater Los Angeles association will also be among those to address the audience, as will Morgan Wood, George R. Beaton and other industrial experts and prime movers in the association. Those who have heard Mr. Wood and Mr. Beaton talk know the force and logic with which they present the salient facts back of the movement, which has for its object more industries and a larger payroll for Southern California. And Mr. Merrick is known throughout the southwest as a business leader and industrial master.

SCHOOL ELECTION

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Citizens here cast their votes today on the proposed $34,640,000 school extension bond issue.

Mass Meeting to Argue Exclusion Called In Tokio

TOKIO, June 3.—A monster mass meeting to discuss the American exclusion legislation, will be held Thursday night, it was announced today.

At a meeting of 2,000 students today resolutions were passed condemning the American legislation and urging that the national spirit of Japan be aroused. The resolutions expressed the hope that American residents of Japan would "be treated kindly as long as Japanese residents of the United States receive similar treatment."

CANDIDATES RUN CLOSE IOWA RACE

Brookhart Leading Sweet In Senatorial Contest by Narrow Margin

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 3.—With incomplete returns on hand from about half of the 2412 precincts in Iowa and reports drifting in slowly from the rural districts today, the senatorial and gubernatorial candidates in Monday's state-wide primary elections were so closely bunched that it was practically impossible to pick the winners.

In the race for Republican nomination for United States senator, Smith W. Brookhart, Republican Progressive incumbent, was leading Burton E. Sweet, former congressman, by a slight margin that might be wiped out with later returns from outlying districts. In 1176 precincts, Brookhart had 105,825 votes and Sweet 102,145.

In the gubernatorial contest not one of the six candidates seemed likely to get the 35 per cent of the total vote cast necessary to nominate. John Hammill and W. J. Burbank were running neck and neck, with Hammill holding a slight lead. Glenn C. Haynes and J. H. Anderson were close behind, with A. J. Banks and J. B. Baser next.

Bandits Kill Two In Realty Office Holdup

CHICAGO, June 3.—Bandits who attempted to hold up the office of the Lovell Real Estate company here early today, shot and killed Charles Wahl, collector for the firm, and Joseph Omerontz, a passer-by. Wahl was shot down as he grappled with one of the men instead of obeying the order to throw up his hands. Omerontz was struck by a flying bullet as he passed the office. The bandits fled without any loot.

Troopers Comb Woods For Missing Couple

MOUNTAIN LAKES, N. J., June 3.—Search for Miss Helen Cole, 24, sculptress, and Charles Carter, 25, was today resumed by state troopers, accompanied by police dogs, who were combing the woods for the pair who left the home of James E. Crowell here, after Miss Cole had declared she could wrest a living from the wilderness with her bare hands.

Ride Gale In Gasbag; Two Hurlt to Death

BELLEVILLE, Ill., June 3.—Leroy Meisinger, University of Nebraska graduate and government weather bureau expert, riding a gale while studying upper air currents from an army balloon during cyclonic disturbances, was hurled to death with his companion, Lieutenant James T. Neeley, last night.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

LONG BEACH, June 3.—Mrs. Rosa Lange attempted suicide here today by swallowing bichloride of mercury, according to police, who said the woman had quarreled with her husband, Richard Lange.

ADVERTISING PLANS NOT CHANGED

Board of Control Refuses To Take Orders From Outside Interests

Reiterating their determination to stand by the policy already adopted for the expenditure of Glendale's advertising fund, the Board of Control, meeting yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, overwhelmingly voted down a motion offered by Herman Nelson that a canvass be made to secure the opinion of the subscribers to the fund as to whether the budget policy should be changed from that already proposed by the advertising committee and approved by the Board of Control.

O. M. Newby, in opposing the motion, declared that a vacillating policy in the administration of the fund would have disastrous results, and L. H. Wilson, in explaining the close scrutiny that the advertising committee is prepared to exercise on the expenditure of the fund, asserted that any compromise would mean the wreck not only of the advertising fund but of the Chamber of Commerce itself.

Confidence of People
"The Board of Control was selected to supervise the expenditure of this advertising fund," said J. Herbert Smith, secretary of the board, "and if we have not got the confidence of the people of Glendale we might as well disband right now. If there are objectionable features in the budget let us eliminate them and go ahead with the work of advertising Glendale."

President W. E. Hewitt of the Chamber of Commerce held to the opinion that, in the event the question was submitted to the subscribers, it would be necessary to present to them two clear-cut budgets from which they might make a choice.

Only One Protest

It has been pointed out in The Glendale Evening News that the only protest to the budget has come from the local representative of a Los Angeles evening newspaper NOT included in the budget.

L. H. Wilson suggested that the advertising committee meet with the Board of Control and attempt to prune down some of the proposed expenditures called

FRENCH FLYER IS HALTED AT KOREA

Abandons Round-the-World Flight When Japanese Refuse Right to Land

TOKIO, June 3.—Captain Pelletier D'Oisy, French ace, flying from France to Japan, was reported tonight to have abandoned the flight at Seoul, Korea, because Japanese military authorities have refused permission for a landing at Tachiarai in North-Kyushu.

U. S. Flyers Ready

TOKIO, June 3.—Reports from Kagoshima, Kyushu today said the American round-the-world flyers would hop off tomorrow morning from China, expecting to land at Shanghai by tomorrow night.

'Blue Sky' Indictments Near In Doble Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Assistant District Attorney Fitzgerald announced today that indictments voted last night by the grand jury against "bner Doble, president; W. A. Doble, Jr., vice-president; and Harold E. Haven, secretary-treasurer of the Doble Steam Motors corporation, Emeryville, Cal., charging violation of the state "blue sky" law in connection with the sale of stock in the company, will be returned to Superior Judge Roche Friday.

Pick Frank W. Mondell As Convention Chairman

CLEVELAND, June 3.—Frank W. Mondell, Wyoming, former Republican floor leader in the House of Representatives and now a member of the War Finance corporation, has been selected to be permanent chairman of the Republican National convention which opens here a week from today.

Announcement of Mondell's selection was made this morning by William H. Butler of Massachusetts, President Coolidge's campaign manager, who is destined to take over the chairmanship of the Republican National committee next week.

Simultaneously with the announcement of Mondell's selection to be permanent chairman, Butler also confirmed the fact that Charles B. Warren of Michigan, now ambassador to Mexico, will be chairman of the resolutions committee which will draft the platform. Ambassador Warren is now en route to the United States from Mexico City.

Effort By La Follette To Block Adjournment Meets With Defeat In Senate

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Senate this afternoon adopted the concurrent resolution already passed by the House providing for adjournment of the Sixty-eighth Congress at 7 p. m. on next Saturday, June 7.

This makes the entire Congress agreeable to winding up at the end of the week.

A proposal by Senator La Follette to recess from June 7 to July 7 was defeated by a vote of 52 to 36.

La Follette was supported by thirteen other Republicans and two farmer-laborites and twenty Democrats. His resolution was opposed by thirty-three Republicans and nineteen Democrats.

Meets Defeat

After defeating La Follette's move the Senate also voted down a motion by Senator Frazier, Republican, of North Dakota, to continue the present session of Congress until June 21 instead of June 7. As this date included the time scheduled for the Republican convention at Cleveland, it was beaten, 52 to 34.

The adjournment resolution itself was finally adopted by a vote of 53 to 36.

Expect Ford's Bid to Come Before Congress

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Action upon Henry Ford's offer for the government's nitrate project at Muscle Shoals before the adjournment of Congress, loomed today when five members of the Senate agriculture committee filed a minority report urging immediate acceptance of Ford's bid.

The report praised Ford's offer as certain to relieve agricultural distress by slashing fertilizer costs in half.

State Senator Shot At Depot In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—State Senator Michael J. Kinney, 49, Democrat, from the Thirty-first Missouri district, was shot four times and probably fatally wounded by two gunmen while waiting for a train at Oakland station today. The gunmen jumped from an automobile and walked within fifteen feet of the senator before they started shooting. They escaped.

W. E. Evans to Leave For G. O. P. Convention

W. E. Evans, one of the state's delegates to the Republican national convention at Cleveland, will leave for the east tonight. Mr. Evans, a Glendale resident, is prominent in the councils of the Republican party.

FACE ASSAULT CHARGE

SAN PEDRO, June 3.—Attorney B. T. Jacques and H. J. Jones, passengers on the S. S. Harvard Memorial day, are the complaining witnesses against W. M. Phipps, R. B. Smith and J. B. Paine, three Seattle youths, who are held for an assault on Chief Officer J. A. Dahlgren when he endeavored to arrest them for sharp practice in a card game which cost Jacques and Jones $1,100, it is alleged.

VOTE TO TAKE ADDITIONAL FRONTAGE TO WIDEN STREET

Ten Feet More From Each Side, Glendale Avenue To Eagle Rock

Without a dissenting voice, the City Council this morning instructed the city attorney and city engineer to prepare the necessary proceedings for the widening of Colorado street from Glendale avenue to the Eagle Rock city limits to a width of 100 feet.

The motion, made by Councilman C. E. Kimlin and seconded by Councilman Asa Hall, came as the result of the unanimous recommendation from the City Planning commission that the petition for this work be approved.

New Condemnation

As work is under way at the present time widening Colorado street to a width of eighty feet, it will be necessary, under the new proceedings, to condemn an additional ten feet on each side of the road between Glendale avenue and Eagle Rock city limits.

When completed, the improvement under way at the present time will make Colorado street 80 feet in width from Eagle Rock to San Fernando road, with a width of sixty-six feet between curbs.

The new proceedings, however, do not contemplate any change in Colorado from Glendale avenue to the San Fernando road. Therefore, if the proceedings started today are carried out, there will be a jog at Glendale avenue.

Makes Report

In the report of Ben S. Dupuy, city engineer, on the project, he stated that the original petition carried the signatures of 55.7 per cent of the property owners on Colorado street. Subsequently some of them requested that their names be withdrawn and a later check showed that 48 per cent asked for the improvement. Later four more had requested that their names be taken off of the petition. He stated, however, as some of the people there would not sign a petition or a protest, that in his opinion the proceedings would not be protested out.

Public Hearing

Councilman Davis was lukewarm on the subject, and did not vote when the roll was called, in compliance with the law he was

Social Events

Announcement

Coming as a pleasurable surprise to friends was the announcement of the engagement of Miss Estelle M. Bradbury to George M. Wilkins of Los Angeles, made at a daintily appointed luncheon last Saturday at the home of Miss Bradbury's parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Bradbury of 429 Lincoln avenue.

Yellow spring flowers and greenery were decorative features of the affair. The luncheon table was decorated in the same color scheme with a large crepe rose forming the centerpiece.
Dainty rose bon bon baskets with tiny yellow candles marked the guests' places. Covers were laid for twelve young women, all classmates of Miss Bradbury's at the University of California, Southern Branch.

A delicious three-course luncheon was served at 1:30 o'clock, followed by an informal social hour.

During the luncheon the hostess asked each guest to pull the yellow ribbon at her place, the other end of which was concealed in the petals of the large rose forming the table centerpiece, and to which was fastened a small card.
The individual candles were then lighted and the guests were bidden to hold the cards over the flame and gradually the names of Miss Bradbury and Mr. Wilkins appeared with the wedding date,
July 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A.

tained as their guests at breakfast Sunday morning Mrs. A. V.
Murray and J. E. MacNichols, of Los Angeles. Later in the day they motored to San Pedro and Long Beach. Mr. MacNichols is planning on leaving this week for Seattle for several weeks' visit.

Miss Ida D. Myers had as her guests today at the Tuesday Afternoon club meeting Mesdames
H. T. Alexander and Jennie Bertram of Chicago, Ill. Both Mrs. Alex-

PLAN ELABORATE SOCIETY WEDDING FOR LOCAL GIRL

Miss Harriett Cook Will Be Wedded to Angelo by Reverend Edmonds

Of much interest to local society is the wedding of Miss Harriett Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Cook of 639 North Orange street, and Hal Weeks of Los Angeles, son of Mrs. S. W. Weeks of Rochelle, Ill., which will be solemnized tonight at the Glendale Presbyterian church by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. John T. Jenkins will be Miss Cook's matron of honor. She will wear an apricot colored georgette frock trimmed with chiffon of the same shade and silver lace. She will carry a shower bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses and fern.

Four bridesmaids will be Miss Odelle Cunningham, Miss Dorothy Haig, Miss Helen Beach, all of Glendale, and Miss Pearl Pollock of Ocean Park. They will wear pastel shaded taffeta frocks trimmed in cream lace ruffles and taffeta and horsehair hats to match their frocks. Their shower bouquets will be made of sweet peas and maidenhair fern. Miss Cunningham will wear yellow, Miss Haig, blue, Miss Beach, orchid, and Miss Pollock, green.

Miss Cook's wedding gown is an elaborate creation fashioned of white chiffon brocaded in silver over white satin. It is made in panel effect with a rich silver sash fastened on the side with a large bow. She will wear a silk net bridal veil fastened in place with orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet will be of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. She will be given in marriage by her father, B. F. Cook.

The little flower girl, Joy Madison, will wear a white dotted Swiss frock trimmed with ruffles and pink ribbon. She will carry a white basket filled with roses.

Musical Numbers
Preceding the reading of the marriage service, Mrs. Mildred Dixon Puffer will sing "O, Promise Me." Paul Carson will play on the organ the Lohengrin wedding march for the entrance of the bride and groom, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March after the ceremony.

After the ceremony a reception will be held at the Oakmont Country club where the wedding supper will be served. Covers will be laid for fifty guests.

Miss Cook and her parents are well known Glendaleans, having come to Glendale to make their home many years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were former proprietors of Cook's Cafe on South Brand boulevard.

Miss Cook has been complimented with several pre-nuptial courtesies and has been the recipient of many lovely gifts for her new home.

Dancers to Compete In Waltzing Contest

There will be a special feature tonight at the dance at Hahn's auditorium at 109-A North Brand boulevard. It will be the beginning of a contest for the best waltzers attending the dances.

Two couples will be chosen in the series of dances extending over a period of three weeks. At the end of that time the winners will be presented with a silver cup.

ADOPTS PLAN TO ASSIST CHILDREN

Sickly Students Progress in Outdoor School on a Malted Milk Diet

An energetic principal in one of the large Boston public schools has instituted a new regime for sickly, poorly developed and backward children which has shown remarkable results within the past year.

An outdoor classroom has been fitted up in a sheltered corner of the school yard, and during pleasant weather, all the weaker members from each class are sent here to take their regular work under a special instructor.

In addition, twice each day, during the forenoon and afternoon recesses, the children are served hot Horlick's Malted Milk. By the end of the first month after the new plan had come into effect, there was an average gain in weight of three pounds among the pupils in this outdoor class, and teachers throughout the school noticed a decided increase in mental alertness, interest and concentration.

BURTON'S CHOICE FOR CONVENTION SPEAKER LAUDED

Rev. Calderwood Recalls Early Friendship of Coolidge Backer

Dispatches from Washington stating that Rev. Marion LeRoy Burton, president of the University of Michigan, had been selected to place the name of President Calvin Coolidge in nomination at the Republican National convention at Cleveland, June 10, have a special interest for one Glendale resident—Rev. Charles M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church of this city.

This great educator, now a man of national prominence, in common with many other great Americans, came from a very humble family, and it was while the boy who has become president of one of the greatest educational institutions in the world, was working his way through the Yale Divinity school, trying to obtain his Ph.D. degree, that he was befriended by the present Glendale pastor, who allowed the then plain LeRoy Burton to share his room, free of charge, in order that every penny might be hoarded and spent where it would do the greatest amount of good.

During the term of Mr. Burton's first pastorate—that of the Church of the Pilgrims, Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. Calderwood was associated with him as assistant pastor. When seen this morning, Mr. Calderwood willingly talked of his friendship for Dr. Burton.

Recalls Earl Days
"Yes, I know him, and know him very well," he replied to a representative of The Glendale Evening News, this morning. "We were schoolmates, in fact, we shared the same room at Yale."

"Mr. Burton was born on a farm near Brooklyn, Iowa, and his parents were very poor. His father died while he was young, leaving his mother in straitened circumstances, and this boy worked his way through high school, academy, university and divinity school by his own efforts alone."

"After finishing his fundamental education, he was associated with Carlton college at Northfield, Minn. The three years from 1900 to 1903 were spent by him at the Yale Divinity school, when he was trying to obtain his degree of Doctor of Philosophy. In order to earn money, he had accepted the pastorate of a Congregational church in a nearby village, coming to Yale every week for his education. I had been very friendly with him, and knew his hardships and vicissitudes. I made him an offer to share my room, free of charge, which he gladly accepted."

Stretching Out
"Mr. Burton was so tall—he is six feet five inches in height—that, when he slept with me, we had to place a chair at the foot of the bed for his feet to rest on. We have often laughed about that since."

"After obtaining his degree in 1903, he served for one year as professor of systematic theology in Yale, and when called to the pastorate of the Church of the Pilgrims in Brooklyn, he asked me to accompany him as his assistant."

"In 1909 he was elected to the presidency of Smith college at Northampton, Mass. He held this position seven years. During that time Calvin Coolidge was mayor of Northampton, and they formed a friendship which has been kept very warm to this time, and resulted in the high honor recently accorded him."

"From there he went to be head of the University of Minnesota, and of late years has made a great record as president of the University of Michigan. He recently fostered a bond issue for $23,000,000 for the university, which carried by an overwhelming majority."

Dr. Burton is described by Rev. Calderwood as being a wonderful orator and a man of powerful personality. Of towering stature, he is built accordingly, and is a red-headed, two-fisted man's man.

"To know him is to love him," added Rev. Calderwood. "I am almost overcome when I stop to think that this great man was once my guest in a college room. I see ahead for him unlimited possibilities. There is no telling where he will stop. He is popular with all classes, a wonderful leader, and I predict that he will go far in the United States. His friendship for the president is the cause of his active participation in politics, a thing which he has heretofore avoided."

"It is certain in my mind that the nominating speech of Dr. Burton at Cleveland will be a gem of American literature."

Mrs. Retta Rhodes to Carry Role In Play

Mrs. Retta Rhodes, professional student of the Emerson School of Self-Expression, is to appear June 6 in a playlet, "His Good Genius," at the First Methodist church. She recently won praise in a recital given in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard.

CONVENTION IN L. A. OPENED BY UNITY ADDRESS

Mrs. Thos. G. Winter, Head of General Federation, Greets Delegates

"What Makes a Nation Great," will be the theme of the message American clubwomen will hear from Mrs. Thomas Gerald Winter, president of the General Federation, at the opening of the seventeenth biennial of the federation in Los Angeles.

"Ten people united have the strength of a hundred who stand singly; one hundred in phalanx can overpower a thousand stragglers. Let us band together, invincible millions, working for health, happiness, righteousness and humanity in the United States," is a foreword from Mrs. Winter to the 3,000 women who will participate in the national gathering, radiating around the general theme, "World Peace."

The true spirit of the Golden West is manifest in the greetings California women are giving their guests, who have been arriving by trainloads since Saturday. Many of the delegates have relatives and friends in Southern California and old associations will be renewed. At the railroad depots, as the special trains rolled in, there were many touching greetings.

In Prominent Roles

Many of the delegates are veterans of years, who have taken part in such national struggles as woman suffrage, prohibition, and other causes for which Christian women of the world have battled. They have come with women of later years, fighting for a greater, nobler cause, "World Peace."

All sessions of the biennial are to be held in Philharmonic auditorium, which is a most significant fact, for this building was planned and designed in part by one of the most prominent women in the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and dedicated as a temple of worship, where her distinguished husband once preached. She is Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, who holds several offices in the General Federation and has just finished four years as California director for the General Federation, and who arranged the entire program for the biennial.

The biennial program she submitted for consideration six months ago at the federation board meeting in Washington, D. C., was the only one ever accepted without change by that board.

Overflow Meetings

The Philharmonic auditorium seats 2500, but it is estimated that double that number will seek admission. Arrangements have been made for duplicate meetings in the afternoon in the Philmore theatre and for evenings in Trinity auditorium.

Of paramount interest is the election to take place during the convention. The feature of this session will be the choice of a successor to Mrs. Winter.

Never before in the history of the General Federation have there been three candidates seeking the presidency. In fact, to permit the third to run early in the deliberations of the body an amendment must be passed making it constitutional. The three candidates

SUPPLY DATA ON STATE TO CLUBS

Mrs. Hutchinson's School Assembles Information for Delegates

Another Glendale club woman whom American club women, attending the biennial this week in Los Angeles, will come to know for her executive ability, is Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson of 246 North Orange street, honorary member and past president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, who heads the seventy-five members of the information committee on duty during the national gathering.

Mrs. Hutchinson has been directing a school of instruction for her committee for several months, and she and her assistants are now prepared to answer every question concerning Los Angeles and the entire state.

California Data
"We are prepared to answer any question asked," says Mrs. Hutchinson, "be it about the city, state, climate, brightness of the California moon, depth of the ocean, methods of subdividing the salaries of motion picture stars of Hollywood."

Information booths will be located at the Biltmore hotel and the Philharmonic auditorium and will be in charge of trained workers. The members of the committee will work in three reliefs with from six to ten always on duty during the day and evening.

The motto of the committee is "Service, Courtesy and Correct Information."

Formal Opening Of Security Building To Be Held June 14

Picture of the Glendale Security Bank building, located at the corner of Brand and Broadway. The formal opening of the big structure will take place on Saturday, June 14, from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock at night. It will be an event in Glendale's history.

Saturday afternoon and night, June 14, is the date which has been decided upon for the formal opening of the Glendale Security building, Glendale's first skyscraper and largest banking room. Such was the announcement this morning of R. F. Kitterman, vice-president of the Security Trust & Savings bank and manager of the Glendale branch of that institution.

"The day toward which we have been looking forward to for so many months is almost here, and, believing that the community as a whole will take as much pride in our magnificent new banking quarters as we will ourselves, we are asking all of Glendale and surrounding communities to join with us in a celebration of the event that will go down in local history," said Mr. Kitterman.

The doors will be thrown open for the first time at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and will remain open until 10 o'clock that night, so as to give the public ample time in which to go through and inspect all parts of the new bank, including the big money vaults in the basement. An orchestra will be playing in the basement as well as on the main floor, and refreshments will be served there.

MURPHY DRAWING CROWDS TO TENT

"The Squash Head" Sparkles With Clever Dialogue And Witty Lines

Now fully at home in their new big tent at the corner of North Brand boulevard and Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, Murphy's comedy that keeps audiences on "The Squash Head," a funny farce comedy that keeps audiences on the laugh from the first curtain to the last.

Roomier quarters than at their previous location make a visit to Murphy's Comedians a genuine treat, and the high quality of the dramatic fare offered precludes the possibility of a dull moment. "The Squash Head" is not only a riot of merriment, it is a play of well constructed situations and sparkling lines.

Everyone has greeted the play as the best these clever showmen have put on since they came to Glendale. The curtain rises at 8 o'clock nightly, but the tent is open at 7:15 o'clock, so that those desiring to come may be sure of getting in.

SCOTS' PYRAMID WILL CELEBRATE FIRST BIRTHDAY

Five Bands, Many Delegates In Line of March of Mammoth Parade

With bands from five outside pyramids and 200 delegates from all over Southern California, as well as the entire membership of the local pyramid in the line of march, the big street parade to be staged by the Glendale Scots, Pyramid No. 39, as part of their first anniversary celebration next Saturday, promises to be one of the most spectacular ever put on in Glendale.

The Glendale Pyramid was formed one year ago next Friday and for a mammoth birthday celebration the organization is initiating fifty-two candidates into the order before visitors from pyramids all over the south and is putting on the parade at 6:30 p. m., just before the night program. Invitations were sent to all pyramids in the neighborhood of Glendale and Los Angeles to take part in the affair and the greater part have signified their intention of sending large delegations to help put things over.

Colors for Scouts
Included in the six bands appearing in the parade will be the famous Tom-tom band from the Los Angeles pyramid, and the prize-winning Glendale band. The Boy Scout troop number 11, sponsored by the Glendale Scots, will be in the line of march, and will be presented with the colors by the local Pyramid when the parade winds up at the tent at the corner of Brand and California.

The Scots will begin to assemble at the tent at 4 p. m. At 5 o'clock the chuck wagon will open for business and will serve dinner to the delegates from then on until midnight. Candidates for initiation will be required to report at the office of Scribe C. Milt Cove in the tent not later than 5:30 or suffer dire consequences.

Lots of Raw Meat
"Raw Meat" in large quantities will be the chief delicacy provided at the night program. Prizes offered to the Scot bringing in the largest number of petitions added zest to the chase and fifty-two choice pieces of raw meat have been secured to put through the mill on Saturday night.

Thirty-seven of the candidates for membership are from the Glendale Commandery No. 53. Included in this unlucky group are R. M. Grumbling, commander, and Dr. Roy V. Hogue, past commander. The Los Angeles Pyramid of Scots will put on the ritualistic work, wearing the new robes that were purchased recently at a cost of several thousand dollars.

All details of the plans for the celebration were worked out at the special meeting held last Friday night. The arrangements

HOME IS MONUMENT TO HAPPINESS

The longing to go home is fundamental in human nature. It is the longing that created the world's most humanizing institution, the family. Whether cottage or castle, when the day's work is done the heart turns home. The stenographer is dismissed, the pick and shovel dropped, the covers spread on the counter, the typewriter silenced. The day is over. Home yearns to receive back its own.

There is no emotion in all of life more tender and more thrilling than that. One need not become sentimental to feel that tenderness. One is a beast who does not respond to the thrill of home, some home, somewhere. Someone is waiting there in that home, be it large or small. The grass is green and the flowers are blooming, the birds singing. Dinner perhaps is cooking, or supper, if you call it that. And perhaps the children are there. The composite emotion is one of belonging, possessing.

You can't get that feeling in an apartment, flat or court. It can be had only in your own home. Why? If the house is not yours, and the grass is not yours and the flowers and birds are not yours either, you feel; and if you smell your neighbors' dinner cooking, too, and hear the shouts and cries of your neighbors' children mingled with your own—somehow all the little intimate touch of home is lost.

Home is not only "where the heart is." It is where the purse is. You must own the roof over your head or it is merely a shelter, not a home. A home is a monument to happiness, love, peace. Its treasures are everything in life worth while—a gentle wife, sweet children and your own little place in the sun of sunny Southern California.

MODERN BUSINESS METHODS

There has been a great revolution and a great evolution in the business world in recent years as in many other quarters. Business methods have changed to a startling degree. There are business concerns so highly organized that they seem to run like clock work, but somewhere there is a watchful, guiding eye. There was a time when a business once established could run itself, but that day is past.

Human life and customs have changed so completely; the world is moving so rapidly; competition in all lines is so much keener; taxes and all expenses are more burdensome; wages are higher; advertising is necessary, so there must be system and co-ordination in any business that is to be successful.

Great stress is laid on salesmanship, but salesmanship is not all there is to business. There must be a hand that draws together and unifies the various departments, eliminates waste and makes provision to meet the weekly expense budget.

The man who is at the head of a big business and who is capable, does not go out on the floor and sell goods to customers. He can hire salesmen and salesgirls to do that work at comparatively small salaries. Selling is important, but it is only one detail of his business. He must be able to have a vision of all the departments and all the details as a whole and then be capable of bringing them together as he sees them.

Many business concerns have failed because those at the head of them thought they could cut down expenses by doing detail work themselves. Efficiency is the watchword of modern business and it embraces elimination of waste in time and materials, unification and co-ordination of departments, and co-operation between managers and employees and among employees themselves.

THERE ARE MANY FORMS OF LYING

The editor is reminded of the virtue of truthfulness by a current local play, "Nothing But the Truth," which sets forth in amusing fashion the pitfalls of falsehood.

The really shrewd man is a truth teller. The liar is fundamentally a simpleton. In the long run, he deceives no one but himself. Blandishments and beguilements, along with deep-dyed lies, eventually lead into moral quagmires and morasses. The world cordially despises a liar, so much the more credit to it! And, while society has unfortunately fallen into the habit of sanctioning liars, we all know that the best people are not always in "society."

There are so many forms of lying! Perhaps "white lies" are the most insidious of all. A shrug of the shoulders, a lift of an eyebrow, the drooping of a lid, silence even—all are forms of dissemblance. And flattery! A myriad of lies are told daily under guise of saying something nice to someone. Expediency is another great field for the talents of a liar. Artifice, connivance, dissimulation, imposture, fraud, subterfuge—there are almost as many categories of lying as there are liars.

Strange, to what lengths a man will go—and alas, a woman, too!—to distort and pervert the truth, when simple, straightforward adherence to the facts will furnish a short-cut to any goal. But nature, perceiving that the sons and daughters of earth would be prone to prevaricate, caused a tell-tale blush to be placed in the human cheeks as a signal. Beware the liar so hardened that this rush of outraged color from the honest heart no longer answers the prod of conscience. Of all liars, the most depraved and vicious is that despicable creature who can lie and get away with it.

LUNCHEON CLUBS AND CITY BUSINESS

It has come to be expected that the luncheon clubs of Glendale take an active interest in every form of community activity. Representatives of these organizations appear on every committee that is considering, or acting upon, civic problems. At times these clubs all but assume the duties of a Chamber of Commerce or a City Council.

There can be no objection to this spirit of community loyalty and progress for the members of these clubs are representative citizens, they have the good of the city at heart and they make personal sacrifices very often in order to serve the public good.

A Rotarian said, the other day, that the Rotary club originated when two or three men formed the habit of luncheon together at stated periods to "forget all business." It would be interesting to know just where the various luncheon clubs stand, as clubs, in the matter of taking such an active part in community business and what attitude the clubs of other cities take toward directing civic affairs.

In the old days it was the gun stock that got men in trouble, now it's the oil stock.

Why worry about dying? That's the insurance company's business.

"BOYS WILL BE BOYS"

Peace In The World

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Ardent hopes and prayers for peace will welcome the declarations of Mr. Trotsky of Russia and Mr. MacDonald of England.

The former says: "We are for peace and brotherhood. The Red army and navy are weapons for the defense of the revolution upon which all other countries are continuously making attacks."

The latter says: "The day of international peace which we celebrate in our May Day is assuredly coming. The nations, tired of conflict and disillusioned of their war hatreds and war mentality, are seeking new paths that make for friendship and security."

It is well known that the United States of America has never been in favor of wars of aggression, and it would take a great deal to induce us to indulge in any kind of war.

If these three nations are as honestly in favor of peace as they seem to be, it is difficult to conceive how there should break out, without them and opposed to them, another great war.

War, after all, is a matter of will power. Wars are undertaken when a nation feels that it is in physical trim for them; in other words, when it has money enough.

The causes of war are well known; they are the Superiority Complex on the one hand and Fear on the other.

When a nation is thoroughly shot through with the idea that it is superior to all others, or when it has developed a fear of any other, it is ripe for war as soon as its finances will permit it.

The best cure for war in a country is a disposition to travel on the part of its inhabitants.

By travel they become acquainted with other nations and learn that they are human beings like themselves. They acquire the disposition to help and not to hinder.

If we can spread into every land a distaste for the war mentality we shall do much to carry out the wills of Premier MacDonald and Trotsky.

IS HE "NATURE FAKER"?

(From Santa Barbara News)

Now comes the charge that Frederick O'Brien who has won fame as a writer of South Sea Tales is a "nature faker." The author is alleged to have taken real characters and made them absurd by transferring them from their surroundings.

Mr. O'Brien is alleged to have created entirely erroneous impressions of the islands of the southern ocean and their peoples, native and alien.

The reply of the writer is that he has told the truth of the conditions that existed at the time of which he writes. He admits that times have changed in ten years. His characters are painted truly, he contends.

Frederick O'Brien is an able story teller. He has the power to win his readers' attention and hold it by his command of words. Because of his long training as a working newspaper man he has developed to a high degree his powers of observation.

Mr. O'Brien in telling his stories and giving his impressions of the South Seas and their people, hardly pretended to give a scientifically accurate view of the romantic land and waters of which he wrote.

He aimed to interest and amuse. How well he has done this, the success of his books gives ample testimony. He has won fortune but he has also aroused interest in the South Seas as no other writer since the days of Robert Louis Stevenson.

Whether the impressions Mr. O'Brien received in his life in the southern islands and has passed along to his readers is the same as some less observant person would receive is a minor matter.

He has amused a vast number of persons. By the magic of words he has painted the picture of life in the lazy land of the deep blue water and brought it home to thousands of readers.

The time-worn complaint of the critics that he has not told the truth is merely the repetition of the charge aimed at many another successful author.

O'Brien lived long in the tropics. He knows its people, white, yellow and brown. He deserves

UNCLE SAM'S MONIES

(From Santa Ana Register)

The experienced movie fan is accustomed to the idea of film stars going to all corners of the world to make their pictures. He doesn't know, however, how far Uncle Sam's camera men travel to make an interesting educational film.

Take a recent thriller called "Hoppers." It is a picture made by the Department of Agriculture for the purpose of teaching grasshopper control. It depicts various methods of fighting grasshoppers, such as the hopper catcher, the balloon, large flocks of hopper-gobbling turkeys, use of poisoned bait and even the thorough plowing and harrowing that destroys hopper eggs.

All rather humdrum stuff for anyone but the farmer, some one says. Not so at all. The picture includes a community gathering with pleasant social aspects as well as the business one of getting together in a neighborhood campaign against the hopper. And it goes farther than that. There are interesting scenes taken on "grasshopper glacier" in Montana, where prehistoric hoppers are found frozen in the ice. There are scenes taken in Africa showing great flights of grasshoppers in that region and reminiscent of the Plague of Locusts of Old Testament times. So far have representatives of the Bureau of Entomology traveled in their efforts to make the grasshopper picture interesting as well as instructive.

NON-VOTING IS STARTLING

(From Pasadena Star-News)

Elections are controlled by one-half of the total number of citizens who are qualified to vote. In other words, in national elections, even in presidential years, only about 50 per cent of the eligible vote is cast. In 1920, when the vote for president was the greatest ever cast, the grand total was almost 27,000,000. And yet more than 25,000,000 persons, of age, and having qualifications to vote, did not vote at all!

This is a menace that should startle the whole country. Along this line reform is needed more than in any direction of government officials and the determin-

Character Sketches

There are many heroes of whom the world never knows, men and women who give up everything life holds dear for the sake of others and who never even know that they are heroes; men and women who have the courage to live starved lives and do their duty without complaint. Frank Allen, our hardware merchant in Anytown, was one of these. Life meant nothing to him but hard work and no one ever heard him rebel.

Frank was a good business man and, as I have said, a hard worker. He had one of the largest and finest stores in Anytown and his business was good. But his wife and daughters were never satisfied. For some reason they were ashamed of his business and they were always finding fault with their lot. No one in Anytown lived any better than they did yet Frank never heard a word of appreciation. It was always, "Why can't we have this or that?" "Mrs. Caswell has so and so, why can't I?" "The Randalls are going here or there, but of course Mr. Randall is rich." The Randalls were friends of the Allens who lived in the city. They were very wealthy, judged by Anytown standards, and the Allens were constantly comparing their own circumstances with those of the Randalls.

Frank Allen was ambitious and he liked his work. Some men would have given up in despair but he seemed to have great desire to measure up to his family's ideas of a husband and father, or rather their ideas of like themselves. He never could have satisfied them, for the more he gave them the more they wanted. He had a right to be proud of his success in Anytown but his family could very quickly discourage any feeling of pride he might have had. He was foolishly fond of his three daughters and he never seemed to realize that they owed him anything in the way of regard or gratitude. He could not give them everything they desired, and his was the blame.

In appearance Frank Allen resembled the late President Harding a good deal. He was public spirited and a good citizen. He organized our Merchants' association and was a member of our city council for a good many years. He held his head up among us although it was common knowledge that he never received a word of encouragement or sympathy at home. He was the meat ticket and the check book and he was always inadequate.

A meek man might have feared to demand his rights but Frank Allen was not meek. He was not afraid of any one or anything. So we knew it was his love for his wife and daughters and his wish to do his duty that kept his nose to the grindstone without that sympathy and understanding that make the hardest drudgery a joy.

We all worked hard in Anytown and there, as everywhere, each one had an ideal, some goal we were trying to reach, and there is almost always hope to spur one on. But Frank Allen must have known he was playing a losing game in working for his family's satisfaction and appreciation. That is why I say he was a hero.

Worth While Verse

THE FLOWER

Once in a golden hour
I cast to earth a seed.
Up there came a flower,
The people said, a weed.

To and fro they went
Through my garden-bower,
And muttering discontent
Cursed me and my flower.

Then it grew so tall
It wore a crown of light,
But thieves from o'er the wall
Stole the seed by night;

Sowed it far and wide
By every town and tower,
Till all the people cried,
"Splendid is the flower."

Read my little fable:
He that runs may read.
Most can raise the flowers now,
For all have got the seed.

And some are pretty enough,
And some are poor indeed;
And now again the people
Call it but a weed.

THE CASE OF JENNIE BRICE

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story so far:

Mrs. Pitman, who tells the story, ran away from home to marry, and was never reconciled to her old Pittsburgh family, although she returned to her home town to live after she became a widow. She kept boarders in what was then lower Allegheny, where, because there were floods every year, rents were cheap. One March there was an unusually high flood. Miss Jennie Brice, as she was known on the stage, was having an unusually quarrelsome time with her husband, Mr. Ladley. Mrs. Pitman overheard them talking with a man, and Miss Brice said, "That's all very well, but what about that prying she-devil that runs the hotel?" That night the water rose high, and in the middle of the night another boarder, Mr. Reynolds, woke Mrs. Pitman to say somebody had just rowed away in the boat she had tied to the stairs in the lower hall. Mrs. Pitman later saw Mr. Ladley returning. He said he had been out for medicine for his wife. Mrs. Ladley's floating in the parlor, and later a big knife of Mrs. Pitman's, with the blade broken. Mr. Ladley offers to pay Mrs. Pitman for a pillow slip he says was burned with a cigarette, and says his wife really was not ill, but went away in the night. A benevolent old gentleman, rowing around to feed stranded animals, stops at Mrs. Pitman's, and offers to help her. His name is Holcombe. They discover that an onyx clock from the mantelpiece in Ladley's room is missing. They also find a blood-stained towel.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

VIII.—THE SLIP OF PAPER
I turned and saw a young man in the doorway, smiling, his hat in his hand. Even at that first glance, I liked Mr. Holcombe, and later, when every one was against him, and many curious things were developing, I stood by him through everything, and even helped him to the thing he wanted more than anything else in the world. But that, of course, was later.

"What's the trouble, Holcombe?" he asked. "Hitting the trail again?"

"A very curious thing that I just happened on," said Mr. Holcombe. "Mrs. Pitman, this is Mr. Howell, of whom I spoke. Sit down, Howell, and let me read you something."

With the crumpled paper still unopened in his hand, Mr. Holcombe took his note-book and read aloud what he had written. I have it before me now:

"Dog meat, two dollars, boat hire—that's not it. Here. Yesterday, Sunday, March the 4th, Mrs. Pitman, landlady at 42 Union street, heard two of her boarders quarreling, a man and his wife. Man's name, Philip Ladley. Wife's name, Jennie Brice at the Liberty Stock Company where she has been playing small parts."

Mr. Howell nodded. "I've heard of her," he said. "Not much of an actress, I believe."

"The husband was also an actor, out of work, and employing his leisure time in writing a play."

"Everybody's doing it," said Mr. Howell idly.

"The Shuberts were to star him in this," I put in. "He said that the climax at the end of the second act—"

Mr. Holcombe shut his note-book with a snap. "After we have finished gossiping," he said, "I'll go on."

"Employing his leisure time in writing a play—" quoted Mr. Howell.

"Exactly. The husband and wife were not on good terms. They quarreled frequently. On Sunday they fought all day, and Mrs. Ladley told Mrs. Pitman she was married to a fiend. At four o'clock Sunday afternoon, Philip Ladley went out. Pitman uses during a flood, and which she had tied to the stair rail, was gone having been cut loose, not untied. Everything else was quiet, except that Mrs. Ladley's dog had been shut in a third-story room."

"At a quarter after four that morning Mrs. Pitman, thoroughly awake, heard the boat returning, and going to the stairs, met Ladley coming up. He muttered something about having gone for medicine for his wife and went to his room, shutting the dog out. This is worth attention, for the dog ordinarily slept in their room."

"What sort of a dog?" asked Mr. Howell. He had been listening attentively.

"A water-spaniel. The rest of the night, or early morning, was quiet. At a quarter after seven Ladley asked for coffee and toast for one, and on Mrs. Pitman remarking this, said that his wife was not playing this week, and had gone for a few days' vacation, having left early in the morning."

Remember, during the night he had been out for medicine for her. Now she was able to travel, and, in fact, had started."

"This is where I entered the case," said Mr. Holcombe. "I rowed into the lower hall this morning, to feed the dog, Peter, who was whining on the staircase. Mrs. Pitman was coming down, pale and agitated over the fact that the dog, shortly before, had found floating in the parlor downstairs a slipper belonging to Mrs. Ladley, and, later, a knife with a broken blade. She maintains that she had the knife last night upstairs, that it was not broken, and that it was taken from a shelf in her room while she dozed. The question is, then: 'Why was the knife taken? Who took it? And why? Has this man made away with his wife, or has he not?'"

"Mr. Howell looked at me and smiled. 'Mr. Holcombe and I are old enemies,' he said. 'Mr. Holcombe believes that circumstantial evidence may probably hang a man; I do not.' And to Mr. Holcombe: 'So, having found a wet slipper and a broken knife, you are prepared for murder and sudden death!'"

Mr. Howell looked at me and smiled. "Mr. Holcombe and I are old enemies," he said. "Mr. Holcombe believes that circumstantial evidence may probably hang a man; I do not." And to Mr. Holcombe: "So, having found a wet slipper and a broken knife, you are prepared for murder and sudden death!"

"I have more evidence," Mr. Holcombe said eagerly, and proceeded to tell what we have found in the room. Mr. Howell listened, smiling to himself, but at the mention of the onyx clock he got up and went to the mantel.

"By jove!" he said, and stood looking at the mark in the dust. "Are you sure the clock was here yesterday?"

"I wound it night before last, and put the key underneath. Yesterday, before they moved up, I wound it again."

"The key is gone also. Well, what of it, Holcombe? Did he brain her with the clock? Or choke her with the key?"

Mr. Holcombe was looking at his note-book. "To summarize," he said, "we have here as clues indicating a crime, the rope, the broken knife, the slipper, the towel, and the clock. Besides, this scrap of paper may contain some information." He opened it and sat gazing at it in his palm. Then, "Is this Ladley's writing?" he asked me in a curious voice.

"Yes."

I glanced at the slip. Mr. Holcombe had just read from his note-book: "Rope, knife, slipper, towel, clock."

The slip I had found behind the wash-stand said "Rope, knife, shoe, towel. Horn—". The rest of the last word was torn off.

Mr. Howell was staring at the mantel. "Clock!" he repeated.

NEW FARM RELIEF

WASHINGTON, June 3.—A new farm relief proposal was offered the Senate in a bill by Senator Stanley, Democrat, of Kentucky, slashing tariff rates 50 per cent upon all products exchangeable for farm crops. The bill was accompanied by a resolution giving the president authority to invoke the cheaper tariff rates whenever agriculture faced an economic crisis.

Protection for Motorists
And Pedestrians Asked
At Rail Crossing

A. G. Bartley, 941 North Pacific avenue, appeared before the City Council this morning and requested that steps be taken to protect pedestrians and motorists where the Pacific Electric crosses Pacific avenue. He also cited the dangerous condition for traffic on the bridge over the wash at this point.

The city manager, city engineer and city attorney were instructed to get in touch with the railway company and the state railroad commission in an endeavor to have a wig-wag danger signal installed at this point.

Protest Is Denied

A protest against the assessment for the improvement of Hill drive, filed by Peter S. McNutt, 2209 Sierra avenue, was, on recommendation of the city engineer, denied, and the assessment roll confirmed.

I. J. Hoover requested that the Council ask the Pacific Electric company to extend its bus service, which now stops at Tenth and Grand View. He was referred to the proper railway officials.

Councilman Gilhuly brought up the matter of regulating sewer contractors so as to insure the safety of their employees. The discussion was brought on by the death of Charles Stewart in the cave-in of a Canada sewer last week. No official action was taken.

To Take Vacation

Councilman Sam Davis was excused from attending Council meetings from June 5 to September 1. He stated that he was going on a vacation, but added that he had not as yet decided on his destination.

Three petitions for the installation of ornamental lights on San Fernando road and other streets in that section of the city, including Garfield, Los Angeles and Windsor roads, were read. The one offered by L. H. Wilson was accepted, as it complied with the city ordinances, and the other two were referred to Peter Dietrich, superintendent of plant and production, for checking and report.

Budget Comes Up

The Council adjourned to meet tonight at 7 o'clock, when the budget for 1924-25 will be discussed. The councilmen spent fifteen minutes trying to arrange a date for a meeting with the traffic committee, when its report could be gone over. As no date agreeable to all the councilmen could be selected, the matter was left open until tonight, when they hope to reach a decision which can be transmitted to the traffic committee.

CHORAL CLUB TO GO TO PASADENA

Special Program to Be Given
In Community House at Arroyo Seco

Glendalians are looking forward with considerable pleasure to the trip tonight with the Glendale Choral club and Symphony orchestra to the Arroyo Seco Community House, located near the corner of Pasadena avenue and York boulevard, just behind the Highland Park library.

A special invitation has been extended to the members of the Glendale City Council to attend and all Glendalians interested in Community Service are invited. They are planning on leaving the Harvard street high school at 7 o'clock tonight and all those who expect to make the trip and will have room for one or two others in their machines are asked to meet at the high school.

The evening's program will include the chorus, "Tis Thy Bridal Morning" from "The Rose Maiden," by the Glendale Choral club and several selections by the Symphony orchestra. The quartet, composed of Dr. C. R. Lusby, Dr. P. O. Lucas, Paul Butterfield and Frank Butterfield, will also render several selections. Mrs. Frank Butterfield will act as accompanist.

Often a man does himself a favor by keeping on good terms with his neighbors.

Why I Am In Glendale

We are living—truly living—in Glendale, hoping that it be forever, for the good reason that Glendale is the best, most beautiful and comfortable city in California; that is to say, in the whole world. This after visiting cities between Pennsylvania and the Pacific ocean.

Ill-health, caused by the severe climate, drove us from Ohio, to seek strength and occupation elsewhere. In Glendale—happy name—we have found both; and more to comfort and satisfy.

Glendale is the ideal home city, with its thousands of tree-shaded, cozy bungalows owned by neighborly, interested, real human folks. Green lawns, shrubs and flowers all about, bespeak the character of our citizens.

Glendale's business streets and stores are features of which we are proud indeed.

Glendale's climate is unexcelled anywhere and we'll all shout that we are lucky to be here, and here we want to stay.

The twenty-one graduates and thirteen teachers of the Glendale academy of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination. Reading from left to right, first row: May Gottfredson, Herbert Wespahl, Rhoda Christy, Robert Martin, Inez Johnson, Loren Rosenfeld, Harriet Ringstrom, Ezra Richards, Esther Seiss, Rudolph Besser; second row: Evelyn Painter, Wilbur Hartley, Millie Corbin, LeRoy Martin, Florence Voth, Evelyn Johnson, Howard Smith, Suzannah Williams, Leland Lobell, Mary Turner; third row (teachers): Mrs. N. Hankins, Miss Mable DeGroot, Miss L. Weisenhutter, Mrs. W. Martin, W. F. Van Atta, P. A. Webber, Miss F. Smith, Miss R. Hartog, Miss Pauline Sturgis, Miss C. Jewell; fourth row: Prof. H. A. Mourer, Prof. D. A. Ochs (principal), Prof. W. B. Dart, and Daniel Lingenfelter (class president).

The senior class of the Glendale academy, numbering twenty-one students, received their diplomas last night from Professor D. A. Ochs, principal, at their graduation exercises held in the Broadway High school auditorium.

This is the third class of graduates turned out by this local Seventh-day Adventist educational institution, and the first since the erection of the large new building in Sycamore canyon.

Pick Life Goal

Elder A. G. Daniels of Washington, D. C., was the speaker of the occasion, and presented a strong, lucid address on the topic, "The Value of a True Purpose in Life," admonishing the students to early choose a life goal and concentrate all the faculties on its attainment.

The exercises opened with "Processional," an instrumental duet by Miss Rika Hartog and Roy Clint. There followed numbers by a male quartet comprising Harold Mourer, I. Martin, James Moore and C. A. Brandstater. Dr. E. W. Alsberge then offered the invocation, which called upon God to guide the lives of the twenty-one graduates who sat on the platform facing the large audience. After a violin solo by Roy Clint, Elder Daniels launched into his address.

Saving of Time

A true purpose in life lends directness to effort, he said, concentration to activity, inspiration to emotion, force to endeavor and sincerity to ambition. By starting early along a definite line of work to a concrete objective, much time is saved, he pointed out, and the farther one is able to proceed before the brief span of life is over. A true purpose in life serves as the hammer to the iron, Elder Daniels told his young listeners, fashioning the object in view. As the drops of water wear away the stone, so the direct effort breaks down in time the most difficult barriers.

Praises Radio

Elder Daniels praised the radio and showed how it concentrated their activity and lent force to their effort. A true purpose in life, he said, was as electricity to the instrument, a dynamic power. But he was careful to warn the graduates that the purpose must be worthy, and to illustrate an unworthy and terrible purpose in life, he mentioned the revolting murder of a Chicago millionaire's son by two young men whose aim in life seemed to be a perverted spirit of scientific adventure and research.

He also urged that the purpose be unselfish and sincere, naming the great David Livingstone, who brought the light of Christianity to dark Africa, as a man who gave his life to the service of mankind. In teaching, medicine and the ministry, Elder Daniels said, young men and women of today may find a true purpose in life that is worthy, unselfish and sincere.

Presents Diplomas

Following the conclusion of this inspiring address, Professor D. A. Ochs, principal of the Glendale academy, presented the twenty-one graduates with their diplomas, after a brief talk wherein he pointed out that the school year now closing, was the best so far—that its achievements had been great, that the new building in the new location made the work an added pleasure, and that the enrollment in all grades this year reached 420, as contrasted with 250 last year.

Professor Ochs brought out that of the twenty-one graduates, five are planning to take up teaching as a profession, five are going into medical work, four will become ministers, four have chosen business careers, two have selected music and one will become a nurse.

The exercises were concluded with a benediction by Professor W. W. Ruble.

ENDORSE STONE'S $100,000 REQUEST

Plans for Improvement of City Streets Win Favor
Of Exchange Club

Setting aside the rules of the club for the time being, the members of the Glendale Exchange club endorsed the actions of City Manager V. D. Stone, in attempting to secure $100,000 for the improvement of roads in Glendale, at the meeting held today noon at the Egyptian Village. The motion to endorse the move was carried by a large vote.

Following a short talk by L. H. Wilson on the need of better pavement on San Fernando road.

Al Strubell, of the Murphy Comedians, entertained the club members with a number of dialect stories and humorous incidents in his life as a showman and actor.

Plan Fishing Trip
President R. E. Johnston announced plans for a fishing trip under the auspices of the club, to start June 19 and last four days. The club members will drive to Independence, spending two days in fishing.

S. McMillin spoke briefly on the foot and mouth disease situation in California at the present time as contrasted with conditions when the plague was at its height.

C. C. McConnell outlined the plans for the baseball holiday on June 14, when the White Sox will play the champions of the Pacific fleet at the San Fernando park.

QUIET CEREMONY MARKS MARRIAGE

Miss Irene M. Wright Bride
Of Thomas I. Odland at Home Wedding

Miss Irene Mabel Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wright of 811 East Orange Grove avenue, was united in marriage last Thursday night, May 29, 1924, to Thomas I. Odland of Los Angeles, at a quiet ceremony at the bride's home.

Rev. Charles H. Tilden, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, was the officiant. Only immediate relatives of the bride couple were present. Just before the reading of the marriage service, the bride's grandmother, Mrs. W. D. Wright of Tujunga, played the Lohengrin wedding march for the entrance of the bride couple.

Miss Wright wore a becoming gown of grey silk canton crepe made in long simple lines. The veil of the bride veil she wore Cecil Brunner roses in her hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Odland will make their home at 235 South Everett street.

CHANCE TO SAVE MONEY ON PIANO

Glendale Music Company to Give $100 Credit for Payment of $10

Unusual opportunities to buy pianos at greatly reduced prices are offered by the Glendale Music company, 109 North Brand boulevard. To every purchaser making a payment of $10 on a piano, grand or player from their stock, the Salmacia brothers, proprietors, will give a receipt for $100 against the purchase price of the instrument, a straight, out-and-out saving of $90.

The reason why they are making this unusual offer is that they are receiving, through error, shipments of pianos that should not have been received until after July 15, when they expect to be in their new building at 118 South Brand boulevard. Owing to the almost daily delivery of pianos, the Glendale Music company is being crowded to such an extent that they state it is positively necessary to unload much of the stock.

The above offer includes such famous makes of pianos as the Baldwin, Howard, Ellington, Schaff brothers, Schaeffer and many others. To further convince buyers that these instruments are the finest on the market and that the offer actually constitutes a definite saving of $90, the Salmacia brothers are allowing a thirty days' trial of every piano bought in their store.

Because of this premature delivery of pianos to the Glendale Music company, residents of Glendale and surrounding points are offered the opportunity of a lifetime to possess a fine instrument at a sacrifice price, the management feels. Inspection of the large and varied stock is invited.

City Council Orders Colorado Improvement regarded as voting in the affirmative.

After the proceedings have been drawn up, a public hearing will be held before the council, when the councilmen hope to obtain the consent of the majority of the property holders.

The City Planning commission held a public hearing on the project last night, and its findings were transmitted to the councilmen this morning.

All members of the commission, T. W. Watson, president; P. J. Hayselden, secretary, and S. E. Kinch, Harry Hague and J. H. Randall, were present, and the decision was reached after hearing a lengthy discussion from both sides of the proposed improvement.

To Take Years
"There is not a question of doubt," said Secretary Hayselden, "but what this work will eventually have to be done, and if proceedings are started now it will have a tendency to stop property owners from building out to the present property line, with subsequent heavy cost to the assessment district for the demolition of those buildings when the street is widened to 100 feet."

"It will take a number of years for the work to reach the construction stage, and during that time the sixty-six-foot roadway will handle all traffic comfortably. When all legal formalities have been concluded and the city is ready to go ahead with the work, if the Council accepts our recommendation and it is not protested out, there will be no expensive buildings to tear down or move back, which would be the case if proceedings were, not started at the present time."

Petition Denied
Among those who addressed the commission on the subject last night were Julius Peterson, E. E. Shultz and E. H. R. Graham. The petition presented by G. E.

NEW CROSS-TOWN ARTERY PLANNED

Public Hearing on Widening
Of Wilson Avenue Set
For Monday Next

The public hearing on the plans for the widening of Wilson avenue from San Fernando road to the Eagle Rock city limits, prepared under the supervision of the City Planning commission, will be held before that body next Monday night, June 9, at 7:30 o'clock, at the City Hall.

This announcement, made this morning by P. J. Hayselden, secretary of the commission, clears the way for discussion of a project that has for its ultimate object a third main artery traversing the city from east to west, paralleling Broadway and Colorado street.

The plans were prepared by the commission at the request of the property owners, and, while not fully complete as yet, will be in shape in time for the meeting next Monday night.

The commissioners extend an invitation to all those interested in the project, either for or against, to be present at that time and voice their sentiments before the commission, so that they may be guided in their action by the desire of the majority of the property owners.

OAKMONT TO ADD TO MEMBERSHIP

Country Club's Finances Are In Sound Condition,
Report Reveals

Satisfactory report of the financial condition of the Oakmont Country club was given last night at the club meeting at the clubhouse. There were over 250 members in attendance to hear the report of the health condition of club finances and to participate in plans for a membership drive.

Harry Hall, club president, directed the meeting during which every member was given an application blank and pledged to secure one new member before the next meeting.

Golf Course to Open
Dr. Spates was appointed chairman of a committee to stimulate interest among inactive club members, who have not been participating in club affairs.

The new clubhouse is satisfying a long-felt need among Glendale people for an artistic clubhouse in proximity to the city. With the opening of nine holes of the golf course, June 14, the program of activities at the clubhouse will be greatly increased.

Occult Science Club Will Meet Thursday

The regular weekly meeting of the Occult Science Health and Success club is to take place at 8 o'clock Thursday night at 113 South Orange street.

Mrs. Mabel Moore, leader of the club, will give a lecture on "A Method or Law of Attaining Health and Success." Later a message circle will be held. A cake sale will be a feature of the meeting.

TWO MINOR OPERATIONS

There were two operations performed this morning at the Glendale Research hospital. Mrs. A. W. Gregg of 515 Pionetta drive, Montrose, underwent minor surgery, and Mrs. L. L. Graft of 400 North Vernon avenue, Pasadena, had her tonsils removed.

Harrison, 405 West Pioneer drive, and other property owners on that street asking that Pioneer drive from Columbus to Pacific be set aside as a first class residential district was denied.

C. OF C. LOCATED IN NEW OFFICES

Organization to Keep Open House to Visitors on Saturday, June 7

BURBANK, June 3.—The local Chapter of Commerce is now located at 156 North Olive street, where a house-warming will be held on Saturday afternoon, June 7, from 4 o'clock until 9, at which time punch will be served and music dispensed. Everybody, and especially the members of the chapter, are cordially invited by Director J. W. Charleville to visit the headquarters between these hours and see how things look in their new home.

Final P. E. O. Meet
Chapter U. P. E. O. held its last meeting of the year at the pretty new home of Mrs. Duncan Forsythe, 932 San Jose avenue, Monday afternoon. Several pleasing vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Shelton of Los Angeles, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. P. Hart. Mrs. Shelton is the talented daughter of Mrs. J. T. Kirkham, president of the chapter, and a guest of the day. The hosts, assisted by Mrs. Will Graig, served dainty refreshments and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent by all who were there. Mrs. Ethel Van Pelt was the guest of honor at a charmingly arranged surprise party, given recently at the Nickerson home at 344 Santa Anita avenue by the J. O. C. girls. The affair was given as a farewell party, as Mrs. Van Pelt left Tuesday morning to spend a month or so visiting her sister at Grand Junction, Colo. Light refreshments were served and games and music furnished the evening's entertainment.

MANY DELICACIES ON DINNER MENU

Clubwomen of Tujunga Will Serve Dainty Meal in School Auditorium

TUJUNGA, June 3.—A cafeteria dinner will be served Wednesday, June 4, at the Tujunga school auditorium by the members of the Woman's club. Mrs. D. J. Warnick is chairman of the committee and will be assisted by a staff of capable cooks.

Included in the menu will be chicken pie, baked ham, and other toothsome delicacies that go with these dishes. The dinner will begin at 5:30 o'clock.

The dance given by the club was well attended. Masonic hall has become a popular gathering place for these affairs, which alternate with ones given by the Acacia club of the Masonic lodge. The proceeds go to the Woman's club building fund, which will be the scene of their dances as soon as it is completed. The members expect to be able to move in by the end of this month, if the work progresses as scheduled.

Election of officers for the Woman's club will be held June 12. It is generally predicted that Mrs. Nelson E. Jones, who has served so capably during the past year and accomplished very gratifying results, will be re-elected to serve another year.

Church Plans Bible School in Vacation

LA CRESCENTA, June 3.—The La Crescenta community church is planning a daily vacation Bible school to begin Monday, June 23. This school will meet in a session of three hours to be held five mornings a week for a period of four weeks. The primary and junior grades will be the only ones taught.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the La Crescenta Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. Richard Shine of West Mayfield avenue. David Johnson, president, called the meeting to order. The devotional service was read by Mrs. Alba Burt. Some very interesting missionary stories were read by Mrs. Val Findley and Mrs. Park read a letter from her nephew, who is a missionary stationed at present in China. Mrs. Henry Brown sent a letter to the society through her mother, Mrs. Walter Brown of Montrose, which gave news of Simla, India. During the serving of punch and wafers a social hour was enjoyed.

Favorable Report on Opening of Highway

VERDUGO CITY, June 3.—A favorable report on the project of opening South Los Angeles street through this community and La Crescenta was made by the committee of Verdugo City Association of Commerce members who met with County Supervisor for the purpose of urging this improvement.

The committee reports that the prospects for the successful culmination of their efforts in this direction are very bright. The route offers a shorter and more direct route from the Tujunga and La Crescenta districts into Glendale. Mr. Wright seemed very favorable to the opening and paving of the street, according to the report. He assured them that he would try to secure an appropriation from the gasoline tax money available July 1.

CLUBWOMEN HEAR PLEA FOR PEACE

Mrs. Willoughby Rodman Is Guest of Crescentans At Annual Lunch

LA CRESCENTA, June 3.—Yesterday was the second annual luncheon of the La Crescenta Woman's club, held at the Oakmont Country club, where small tables holding six and eight were arranged with order club members as hostesses.

The president's table was at the north end of the room and here sat the guest of honor and chief speaker, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, the president, with the incoming officers at her right and the outgoing officers at her left. The table had vases of lupine and cornucopias with a massive centerpiece of Shasta daisies, the small tables having the cornucopias as centerpieces.

A delicious luncheon was served after which the president introduced Miss Marguerite Hauber, who played a piano solo.

Know Other People
Mrs. Willoughby Rodman carried her audience away with her eloquence. Mrs. Rodman said in part:

"Through my experiences of the past two years I come to you to ask you to add one more section to your club calendar for next year, that of philanthropy. Do something for some one else. You will find your neighbor's soul more interesting than your own. "Read history, learn to know people of other countries, their habits, why they do things differently, meet them on some common ground and you will find they have the same ideals as you have—then you will know them better."

"I was head of the Foreign Relief of California and had two years of Social Service work, so when I went to Europe I was able to tell these people just how we did things in our juvenile courts, our school gardens, and now they are doing the same things. Just the other day I had a letter from over there from a woman who was on her school board asking me to send plans for the right sort of schoolhouse."

Delegate to Hague
"When women refuse to allow their sons to be used as cannon fodder then the wars of the world will cease. I went over to The Hague conference with Jane Addams and Miss Hull as a delegate from the largest Woman's club in the world, the Los Angeles Friday Morning club. There I worked to forward the peace movement. I was received by crowned heads because of international interest. Have in your mind the idea that anything you want to accomplish can be done if you want it badly enough."

Returning to her subject Mrs. Rodman said: "America must join a World Court of some kind and not be left out of the world's business. The world's peace is a delicate and wonderful thing. To achieve anything, first we think, then we talk, and then act. The women of the world have reached the second stage in their great peace plan."

"You know," went on Mrs. Rodman, "the Germans said, 'Why, America can never send an army over; her soil is too vain, too fond of bridge and her social life and without the women back of them an army can't fight.' Today it is the talk of Europe, how we American women stood behind our men, that we could and did do it."

In closing, Mrs. Rodman urged the women to go to the Biennial and hear the wonderful peace talks by women of all nations.

Vocal Selections
Mrs. Reed sang a group of dainty little songs. Mrs. Reed who has a voice of great carrying power and uses it naturally, was well received. Mrs. C. A. Haskins made an announcement at this time of the talk she will give at Mrs. Hansen's home in Flintbridge on June 18, at 3:30 p. m. Half of the proceeds from this talk will go to the local Parent-Teachers' association and one-half to the Russian student refugees.

Mrs. H. Reynolds urged the women to attend the duplicate meetings at the Biennial as visitors. They could not, however, attend the business meetings, as only delegates were allowed this privilege.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow read thirteen years' intensive club history written by herself from the minutes of the past thirteen years' club life.

This is the first written Club history. Miss Marguerite Hauber charmed her audience with her singing. It is only in the past two years Miss Hauber has taken up this branch of musical work, but she is going ahead very rapidly in it.

Mrs. R. T. MacDonald, curator of the music department, gave two piano solos. After a short benediction by the retiring president, Mrs. C. A. Haskins, the second annual meeting of the La Crescenta Woman's club was adjourned.

Those seated at the table with the president were: Mesdames Willoughby Rodman, Howard Reynolds, Wilford Howard, Violet Waddell, A. B. Cochran, P. Pinkus C. Minford and Mary B. Darrow. M. S. Collins, C. E. Culberson, A. W. Brown, J. C. Martin and E. N. Nettleton. Place cards were daintily decorated with floral motifs in the blue and gold of the club's colors.

CORNERSTONE OF TEMPLE IS LAID

Masons Conduct Impressive Ceremony at New Home Monday Afternoon

EAGLE ROCK, June 3.—An impressive ceremony yesterday afternoon marked the laying of the cornerstone of the Masonic temple at Chicasaw and Caspar avenues. David John Reese, deputy grand master, was in charge. The Scots' band of Glendale furnished music. Representatives of all Glendale Masonic organizations were present. Practically all the officers of Eagle Rock lodge, No. 422, F. & A. M., full list of which follows, were also present: James Henry Mosher, Master; Harry Sumner Bourne, Senior Warden; Asa Orellus Arnold, Junior Warden; Arthur Leroy Clark, treasurer; Charles Edward Spencer, secretary; Dr. Byron Francis Dawson, chaplain; Albert Dean Tate, Senior Deacon; Richard Harrison Cates, Junior Deacon; Rollin Lee McNitt, Marshal; Ralph Waldo Keyes, Senior Steward; Stanley Underwood, Junior Steward; and Robert Naylor Rogers, Tyler. Trustees are James H. Mosher, Mark T. Lee, and James Roberts. Geo. W. Marshall is inspector.

Delilah Time Now
No date has yet been set for the delilah show, which occurs annually in October. Mrs. C. W. Young asks that all who desire to exhibit flowers take notice of the fact that it is now time to plant. Plants put in from now until the middle of June will be in time for the show, but it is best not to wait too long. The middle of June is the latest possible time that plants can be started to be in time for the show.

Pupils Make Posters
Pupils of the three Eagle Rock schools have cooperated with the Los Angeles school children in making attractive posters in conventional designs, cut from colored paper or painted, urging everyone to vote for the school bonds today. A number of these have been placed in local business houses. Most of them were made by the fifth grade pupils and show splendid training in color combination and design.

Mrs. Ella McNeal Cary has returned from San Francisco, where she attended the wedding of her son, Carlton E. Cary and Miss May S. Johnson. The wedding took place at the St. Paul's Episcopal church. Mrs. Cary states it was a very beautiful ceremony and she had a most enjoyable visit.

OPEN FEDERATION CLUB CONVENTION

Hundreds of Delegates on Hand at First Session of Big Meeting

are all well-known figures in club affairs. They reside in different sections of the United States and each woman stands out for special accomplishments.

Three Candidates
The three candidates are Mrs. W. S. Jennings, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Wallace T. Perham, of Glendale, Mont., and Mrs. John D. Sherman, of Estes Park, Colo. Contests for other offices will lead interest.

The session tonight will open at 7:40 o'clock with an organ recital. Later Mrs. Thomas G. Winter will formally open the convention, assisted by Mrs. J. F. Sartori, chairman of the local biennial board. Later there will be greetings from California, voiced by Mrs. John C. Urquhart, with response by Mrs. Winter. Mrs. Winter's address will close the session. From 10 to 11:30 o'clock there will be an official reception at the Biltmore hotel.

Wednesday's Program
High lights of Wednesday's program, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning, will be reports of officers and committee chairmen. "California day" luncheon at the Biltmore hotel; "state presidents' evening" with each president speaking on "The Greatest Club Asset of My State to Federation Work."

Throughout the convention special conferences and luncheons will be held by the various departments. Rooms in the arcade of the Biltmore hotel have been secured for extensive exhibits. Rooms also have been reserved for departmental and executive meetings. The art and literature exhibits will be conducted in the Friday Morning clubhouse.

Kellogg's Bran did more in two weeks than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:

Gentlemen:
Your "Krumbled Bran," used by me as a cereal, has done more for me in two weeks than the hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine I have taken in last twenty years for constipation. It is wonderful, and it is so simple.

Yours truly,

Arlington H. Carman, Patchogue, N. Y.

Mr. Carman's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kellogg's Bran succeed when drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all. Kellogg's Bran STIMULATES the

START TO RAISE HOTEL FINANCES

Community Project Plans Laid by Business Men at Club Banquet

LANKERSHIM, June 3.—Preliminary steps toward the financing of the Lankershim community hotel were taken by local business men at a recent banquet held at the Encino Country club, and Dr. C. W. Chirey, president of the hotel corporation, states that the project will unquestionably materialize.

Thirty of the official board of the Greater San Fernando Valley Association met at luncheon at the Hollywood Athletic club to complete some of the details of organization and prepare for a big get-together dinner of the valley at large.

The project will be carried forward by a fund raised through sustaining memberships, which will be taken by those interested in the development to be undertaken.

A paid secretary will be engaged, who will be at work at all times on the valley problems undertaken by the association. The first endeavor will be the River-side drive.

Cass Brothers have been awarded the contract for the erection of the Gay Wedding building on the boulevard. The building to be erected is to be a one-story brick, 50x80 feet, to be occupied by a chain store branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heacock, Miss Aimee Wernicker and S. B. Heacock of Los Angeles were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Machus Saturday, after which they drove to Big Bear lake to fish. They remained over the week-end but failed to get a single fish.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Harwood and family have returned from Chicago with Mr. Harwood much improved in health.

AT LA CRESCENTA

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins and family motored to Yellows, where they visited relatives for the week-end. The motorists report very hot weather on the other side of the ridge.

A party composed of the following men motored to San Diego for a camping trip: George Hansen of Verdugo City, Mr. Haberkron of Bell, W. Hoham of Huntington Park and Chris Hansen of Huntington Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Knox and family of Piedmont street spent the week-end camping at Mint canyon.

Another camping party was that of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fraser of Hermosa avenue, who with their guests, Mrs. C. Foy, Mrs. Rose and little daughter Virginia, spent the week-end in the Sease country on a fishing trip.

Scout Captain Jessie Hansen chaperoned a group of Girl Scouts on a hiking trip through the trails on the Balridge ranch. The party visited the supply camp of the men working on the new fire break here and the superintendent gave the Scouts some lessons in woodcraft. Following this visit, the party proceeded up the trail to the spring, where lunch was eaten. On reaching home the Scouts stopped at the home of Captain Hansen, where they enjoyed singing their songs, after which they visited Scout Dorothy Potter, who is recovering from her recent attack of ptomaine poisoning.

Kirschman Will Guard Interests of Sunland

SUNLAND, June 3.—A. D. Kirschman of the Valley Center Improvement association was elected to represent that organization at the coming meeting of Tujunga valley organizations June 9 for the purpose of forming a central council.

The meeting will be held at Legion hall, and it is expected that plans will be made for the formation of a council to deal with problems affecting the entire district, of which Sunland, Valley Center and Tujunga form three communities.

Residents Interested in Wedding of Couple

TUJUNGA, June 3.—An event of considerable local interest is the coming wedding of Miss Bertha Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wheeler of Glendale, and Dean Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Williams of Glendale, and grandson of Mrs. L. May Dean of Tujunga.

The ceremony will be performed June 12 by the bride's grandfather. The bride will be attended by six of her friends.

Slim Audience Turns Out for Weekly Sing

MONTROSE, June 3.—The regular weekly community sing was sparsely attended on account of so many people being away over the week-end. Mr. Lowe and Mr. Miller represented the American Legion at this meeting, each giving a short talk on Memorial day.

Readings by Miss Mildred Jackson were well received, among them being "In Flanders Field."

The regular director, Mr. Prosper, was present and conducted the singing of the evening, all of the songs being patriotic.

At the president's suggestion a membership drive will open on June 12.

This week the regular meeting will be dispensed with to enable members to attend the Galli-Curci concert in the Hollywood bowl, June 5.

A movement is also on foot to secure funds to pay the director and accompanist for their work next year. The next meeting will be in the Montrose school on June 12 at 8 o'clock promptly.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Pay increases aggregating $65,000,000 for federal postal employees was provided by a bill which passed the House yesterday afternoon.

ASK AID TO KEEP BRUSH FIRES LOW

Protection Officials Urge Property Be Cleaned of Grass, Rubbish

TUJUNGA, June 3.—Men in charge of community fire protection request that every resident of the Verdugo hills help reduce the common fire menace by keeping their property clear of grass, brush and rubbish.

The great majority of fires in the past have resulted from these sources on vacant lots, according to records. The grass is abundant and high this year and the danger of fires is greater than ever, rangers report.

The authorities have employed more men this year to patrol the mountains and canyons than ever before. Extra guards have been stationed to reduce the hazard in every possible way. When the authorities take this precaution they naturally believe that it is no more than just that the residents, property owners and visitors in the hills should make an effort to cooperate with them. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of fire insurance money, they declare.

SPRING IS TIME TO SERVE SALADS

Wide Variety of Vegetables
Permits Housewife to Vary Home Menu

By MARY I. BARBER
Of the Kellogg Company
Spring time is salad time—and what an interesting variety of greens this season brings forth. At the head of the list come dandelion greens. These are a real treat because they are one of the few vegetables which still have a season. They should be used before they blossom as they become bitter after that time.

Dandelion greens have a flavor which acts on the appetite as a tonic. There are several ways of serving them. In Eastern Pennsylvania, bacon is cut into cubes and the fat fried off. The fat is then mixed with flour and diluted vinegar is added. This sour dressing is poured over tender greens to "wilt" them.

How to Prepare
Dandelion greens may be placed in a kettle with a little water and boiled until tender. They should then be drained, chopped coarsely and seasoned with butter, salt, and pepper.

Watercress is another popular salad green. Its slightly peppery taste gives character to any food with which it is served. It is particularly good with cod-fish balls. Corn flakes can easily be rolled and used instead of dried bread or crackers for crumbing. They will give cod-fish balls an attractive color.

Cod-Fish Balls
1 cup salt cod-fish
4 cups sliced raw potatoes
2 tablespoons milk, or cream
1 egg (beaten)
2 tablespoons butter
Pepper
Shred cod-fish, removing bones. Boil fish and potatoes together until soft. Drain. Mash together; add other ingredients and beat until light. Shape into balls, roll in corn flake crumbs, in egg, then in crumbs again. Fry in deep hot fat.

Luncheon Dishes
Serve fish balls on a platter and garnish with small bunches of watercress and slices of lemon. If cod-fish balls are used for luncheon they may be accompanied by sliced cucumbers, or tomatoes, and one of the heavier vegetables, such as beets, carrots, or squash, hot muffins—bran or wheat—and a simple dessert will round out the meal.

What's Doing In Radioland

Graduating Class Will Give School Drinking Fountain

As a departing gift to the institution from which they graduate, the senior class of the Glendale Union High school has decided to erect a fountain in the court between the auditorium and the west wing of the building. It will be of Moorish design and it is thought that, when surrounded with the proper shrubbery and landscape work, it will add greatly to the attractiveness of the court.

The class hopes to establish a precedent in building the fountain, and expects following classes to make their graduating gift some beautification of the extensive grounds that surround the new buildings. This type of gift stands not only as a memorial to the class but is of practical value as well.

OBSERVATORY IS GOAL OF HIKERS

Glendale Outing Club Climbs
Mt. Lowe, See Workings
Of Huge Telescope

Members of the Glendale Outing club enjoyed a hiking trip to Rubio canyon, Mount Lowe observatory and Millard's canyon last Sunday, when a jolly crowd left Glendale at 7:35 a. m. on a trip that did not bring them back to this city until 8 o'clock at night.

The party took the bus to Pasadena and the Mount Lowe car to the Rubio canyon station at the foot of the incline. From that point they hiked to the observatory, where the astronomer in charge gave a full description of the working of the telescope and a fifteen-minute lecture, illustrated with stereopticon slides, on the moon and other heavenly bodies.

Plan Another Hike
He extended an invitation to the hikers to return at night and view Saturn through the telescope but the club decided that the trip could be made at a later date. They returned by way of the track from Echo Mountain station to the Dawn Gold Mine trail and from that point by way of Millard's canyon.

The Outing club will make another mountain trip on June 30, when a large number are planning on going to Switzer's Camp in the Arroyo Seco.

ICE ABSORBS HOT AIR FROM FOODS

Keep Door of Refrigerator
Closed, Stop Melting;
Acts Like Blotter

People are accustomed to considering heat and cold as two different things. As a point of fact, cold is merely an absence of heat, and is produced by absorbing the heat from the object to be cooled. Thus, when ice is placed in a refrigerator it does not give off cold but absorbs the heat from the enclosed air and from the foodstuffs placed near it. In other words, it takes up heat in much the same manner as a piece of blotting paper takes up moisture.

While this process goes on, the ice melts. But as soon as the temperature inside the refrigerator has been reduced to the temperature of the ice itself, melting stops. And as long as there is no more heat admitted to the refrigerator, melting will not occur. It is impossible, however, to construct a refrigerator so airtight that a small amount of heat cannot find its way in. Moreover, a certain amount passes through the walls of the refrigerator. This is immediately absorbed and causes a gradual melting of the ice.

But the main entrance of the heat into the refrigerator is the door itself. Every time it is opened, the temperature of the refrigerator is raised; and it is the absorption of this heat which causes the greatest amount of melting. Housewives can effect a great saving of ice by opening the refrigerator door as few times as possible, and by seeing to it that the door is always tightly closed except when foodstuffs are being placed in the refrigerator or removed from it.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S LOLLYPOP PARTY

Down came the rain in Woodland where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow. The drops of water pelted on the windows and raced among themselves to see which one would be first to reach the sill.

"No going out and looking for adventures today," said Nurse Jane to Mr. Longears as she saw him flattening his pink nose against the glass door and looking at the rain.

"Why not?" asked the bunny. "It's too wet for you," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "If you went out now you'd get soaked and your rheumatism would hurt you very much. You must stay in the bungalow with me."

"Oh, all right," sighed Uncle Wiggily. "But what shall I do to have an adventure? I must have an adventure!"

"Perhaps an adventure will come here," said the muskrat lady. "Perhaps," agreed the bunny, but he hardly thought so. He stood looking out at the rain, which came down harder than ever. All of a sudden there was a knock at the side door.

"Maybe that's an adventure!" cried Uncle Wiggily, hopefully.

"It's Lulu, Alice and Jimmie Wibblewobble, the ducks," said Nurse Jane, as she took a look. "Rain won't hurt them, but I wonder what they want?"

Into the bungalow waddled the three ducks.

"Quack! Quack! Quack!" they cried, and Jimmie said: "We were lonesome staying home, Uncle Wiggily, so we came over to see you."

"Well, I'm glad you did," said the rabbit gentleman with a laugh. "I was getting a bit lonesome myself."

"But you aren't lonesome any more, are you?" quacked Alice, rubbing her soft feathers against the rabbit.

"Oh, not a bit!" chuckled Mr. Longears. He was wondering what he could do to amuse the three ducks when Nurse Jane, looking from a window, exclaimed:

"Well, here come Bully and Bawly No Tail, the frog boys! And, surely enough, along came hopping through the rain Bully and Bawly."

"We were lonesome staying home," they croaked, "so we came over here to have some fun, Uncle Wiggily."

"That's very kind of you," said the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose, and wondering how he could amuse three ducks and two frogs, when, all of a sudden, Nurse Jane cried:

"Here come Toodle and Noodle Flat Tail! And, bless your ice cream sandwich, along came the two beaver boys. Of course, they didn't mind rain; beavers live in water half the time."

"Glad to see you, Toodle and Noodle!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. And he was wondering how he was going to amuse three ducks, two frogs and two beavers, when Nurse Jane squeaked:

"Well, if this isn't too funny for anything! Here come Nannie and Billy Wagtail!"

"Oh, those goat children will get all wet!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily.

"They are holding leaves from the rubber plant over their heads," quacked Lulu Wibblewobble. "I guess they are keeping dry."

And when the Wagtail goat children entered the hollow stump bungalow they were as dry as chips.

"We got tired staying home," bleated Nannie, "so we came over to see if you would amuse us, Uncle Wiggily."

"Ho hum!" sighed the bunny, and he hurried out to the kitchen and said to Nurse Jane: "What in the world can I do to make some fun for three ducks, two frogs, a pair of beavers and two goats?"

"Why not give them a lollipop party?" asked the muskrat lady. "A lollipop party!" cried the rabbit uncle. "How can I do that? It is raining so hard I can't go to the store for any lollipops."

"Then I'll make some!" laughed Nurse Jane.

"You can't make lollipops!" said Mr. Longears.

"I'll show you!" chuckled the muskrat lady. "You go in and tell the children a rainy day story."

"I'll make the lollipops," and I'll make the lollipops."

"I'll show you!" chuckled the muskrat lady. "You go in and tell the children a rainy day story."

"I'll make the lollipops," and I'll make the lollipops."

Romance Stirring Again

The one-day love affair of MRS. GEORGE WISE (CATHERINE RADCLIFFE) terminated in the Paris courts, and now she is said to be reaching an agreement with a former sweetheart.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Capital society is speculating on the question of whether the engagement of the former Catherine Radcliffe and Lieut. Julian P. Brown, U. S. Marine Corps, will be resumed. The engagement was unceremoniously broken off when Catherine, daughter of Daniel Radcliffe, the Welsh shipping magnate, eloped with George Wise, son of the milk king of Washington, after a courtship of only a few hours. Their romance lasted only a day.

The Paris courts have just given Mrs. Wise a divorce from George Wise on the ground that marital relations never existed between her and her husband.

Only a little more than a year ago, Catherine Radcliffe, 19, and charming, arrived in Washington on a visit to friends. She was soon identified with the younger set in Washington society.

Not long afterward her engagement to Lieut. Brown was announced. Rumor was that the marine officer broke a secret engagement with the now newly married Miss Elizabeth Hanna, daughter of Mark Hanna, of Cleveland, to win the charming British visitor.

Here enters George Wise. The son of the owner of the city's leading dairy, he had a brilliant record, both in the royal flying corps and in the U. S. service. Personable young men are always at a premium in Washington, and George Wise was a favorite. But just how he met and won pretty Elizabeth Radcliffe nobody seems to know.

What is known is this. The little Welsh heiress left the home of a friend with the announcement she was going to visit another, and the next morning in the newspapers was the announcement that she had married George Wise in Baltimore. In two hours after he proposed he had tucked her in his red roadster and to Baltimore they sped.

In less than that time Elizabeth Radcliffe had awakened to the seriousness of the step she had taken. Wise was left standing on the doorstep, the door slammed in his face, and a frantic cablegram went to Papa Radcliffe in Wales. A heart-breaking scene is said to have been enacted between father and daughter six days later, and in a few weeks Mrs. George Wise was on her way to Paris.

DENVER, June 3.—Colorado's "oil boom" has received an added impetus from an extensive survey undertaken to ascertain the petroleum possibilities by J. D. Sears, administrative geologist of the U. S. Geological Survey.

The survey is one of the most important ever undertaken in the west. Structures will be mapped, areas defined, and an effort made to establish the sand depths of potential oil wells.

A recent discussion of the probable oil supply in the United States has led to investigation of oil shale lands in Colorado. A commission appointed by President Coolidge has already visited the crack players of the country, for a future oil supply. While here the members of the commission—Rear Admiral Hilary Jones, Lieut.-Commander M. C. Robertson and Rodney G. Bush—were told that the United States has sufficient oil shale to supply the United States navy with oil for 2000 years.

According to the United States geological experts, the Colorado oil shale fields would be of vital benefit to this country in the event of war. It has been estimated that the oil shale lands in the state contain 20,000,000,000 barrels of oil.

Present methods of extracting the fluid from the shale, however, are too costly for commercializing the industry.

Peace officers of Colorado and Wyoming are experiencing much difficulty with the "autotramp," a new species of mendicant who makes his way across country in a dilapidated automobile by begging food and gasoline en route.

Work on the construction of Denver's new athletic stadium is expected to get under way shortly, following selection of the site in City Park. The stadium is to be of reinforced concrete, will cost approximately $600,000 and have a seating capacity of 40,000. The city is donating the land and the massive structure will be financed through public subscription.

Extensive preparations are under way for the first annual invitation tournament of the Denver Golf Tournament Association. It is expected between 300 and 400 golfers, including many of several western states in its search will participate.

From Book Of Life

"Life is short, and the Art long; the occasion fleeting; experience fallacious, and judgment difficult."

This is one of the aphorisms of Hippocrates, the celebrated Greek physician of ancient times. The works attributed to him are the earliest extant medical writings. Among them is his famous "Oath," which still is set up for any profession.

Not only for the medical profession has "The Law of Hippocrates" served as guide.

"Medicine is of all the arts the most noble; but, owing to the ignorance of those who practice it, and of those who, inconsiderately

Jess Robbins is preparing the fifth of the series, which he and Kenton are directing alternately. Dempsey is combining his picture work with preliminary training having in view the probability of a Harry Wills match Labor Day.

NIBLO DIRECTS FOR SCHENCK
By a special arrangement made between Joseph M. Schenck and Louis B. Mayer, Fred Niblo is to direct Norma Talmadge in one production.

The director is being loaned to the Talmadge organization by Mayer, to whom he is under a long term contract.

Niblo has made four consecutive productions for Louis B. Mayer presentation. First "The Famous Mrs. Pail," followed by "Strangers of the Night," adapted from "Captain Applejack," "The Name is Woman," and "The Red Lily" now in the process of cutting. The present contract expires with the completion of "The Red Lily" and the new agreement which was signed before the expiration of the old, goes into effect as soon as the Talmadge production is made.

WARM WEATHER COLDS
Warm weather, a wrap left off, a little violent exercise, some perspiration, a cool breeze, the result is a cold. Be prepared to check this cold with a few doses of the well-known FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. Best for coughs, colds, hoarseness. B. J. Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor Peters:—Your article on 'Health Examinations' has caused me to write this letter. Others have probably had similar experiences. A similar article by Dr. Wiley caused me to visit a reputable physician last summer. I told him about the article. Also that I was 33 years old, five feet tall and weighed 84 pounds; that I had three children; that I didn't feel well for quite a few years and that I felt extremely tired all the time, had no appetite but suffered no pains. This doctor said there couldn't be anything the matter with me if I suffered no pain, but as I probably wouldn't be satisfied if he didn't examine me, why, he would do so."

"He listened to my heart and lungs, looked at my tonsils and teeth, and said I had no goitre and that there was nothing the matter with me; that I had never weighed more than 89 pounds, I was naturally thin; that I should work and play harder and stop going to doctors. (A few hours of work or a ten-minute swim leaves me completely exhausted)."

"My sister received a similar examination from another physician. What is the use of following your advice if this is the result? You must educate the physicians first."

"I enclose four cents in stamps and a s. a. s. e. for your article on how to gain weight, as I still weigh 84 pounds and am just as tired. Hopefully—Mrs. E. H."

Yes, I agree with you, Mrs. H. The physicians have to be educated to these health examinations; and that is what the American Medical Association and all the health agencies, are beginning to do. They have prepared standardized forms which, if followed, will cause a very complete mental and physical examination to be given. The physicians can get these forms by applying to the American Medical Association headquarters.

You must remember that it is not wholly the physicians' fault that they are not accustomed to this type of work, because it is only recently that they have been called upon except for illness. Your examination was far from complete but if there is no disease, I should judge you are suffering from a starvation acidosis. You are nearly 30 pounds underweight and undoubtedly are not getting the elements you need to give you strength and normal health."

I am in hopes that by the time you read this, you will have begun to gain by following my instructions.

Hats With Summer Frocks

Lace-trimmed summer dresses call for hats that will be in perfect harmony with the style of the frock, and the vogue of the present season demands hats that will shelter the face and that yet are small enough to be modish.

By MME. LISBETH

The pretty summer dresses of washable material call for wider hats to shield Fair Woman from the sun's too ardent rays. For the dressier type of hat the wider brim has always been favored, but activities such as hiking, motor-ing and kindred sports call for a hat brim that will not tempt the breezes too much, so a chapeau that shades the face but has not too wide a spread is more popular for general wear.

In the center of the illustration we have placed a simple dress of beaded voile. It has elbow sleeves, round neck, both lace trimmed and the trimming extends down the front of the frock in a double row with a narrow band of the material in the center, trimmed with buttons. On the upper right of the frock is a pretty hat that would go well with the frock. It is made of a rather loosely woven straw and has a simple band trimming of crushed periwinkle blue chiffon intertwined with vari-colored taffeta ribbon. Below that is a more sporting type of hat, smaller, with a neat ribbon trim. The brim is lined with a color that might match the frock.

A "garden party" hat is shown at the upper right—a comparatively huge affair of taffeta, trimmed with a large orchid. The entire hat is developed in dainty shades of mauve and orchid. There has been some question as to whether the large hat would be becoming to the bobbed head.

The tiny, close-fitting cloche has been so serviceable that the wearers had awful visions of not only looking "sights" in larger hats, but of constantly engaging in the "pleasures of the chase" as the hats blew off and breezed down the street with the owner in pursuit. While this pastime might be favored by the chubby lady as a gentle reducing exercise, it is not generally favored as it is too uncertain and harrowing and might end in disaster, not only to a hat that cost $2.98 but just as easily to the one that cost many times that. This is easily remedied by seeing to it that the crown of the hat fits snugly. Then there will be no reason why the bobbed-head one cannot wear as extended a brim as she likes.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Regretful Bobbie—By confining your hair with three or four broad combs, so it does not fly about, you will completely change the effect of the bobbing, and, from the front, it will scarcely show that it has been cut. As soon as it is too long for this method of arrangement, add a switch to go all around the head in a coronet braid, or just to cover the back of the head, taking in as much hair as can be gathered and tied securely. At 20, with height of five feet five inches you are fifteen pounds overweight at 140 pounds.

A. W.—For a long time to come your hair will be about the same shade as is now growing out from the roots. You have passed through the worst period, as the sickish yellow shade usually comes after the hair has thrown off most of the dye, although few people wait for it a whole year as you had to do. Now you can hasten matters if you cut off as much of the length of the hair as you can spare. When shampooing use only a fine soap, preferably castile, as a caustic soap will sometimes spoil the shade of pure white hair, causing it to look yellow.

Cutey—You can remove much of the excess oil from your hair by using towels just as if you were drying the hair after a shampoo. An oily scalp shows that you have faulty elimination, so the only way to overcome it is to put your system in order. Whenever you feel that you are about to blush, take a deep breath and hold it for three counts. Repeat this procedure several times, or until you have gained your poise. The deep breath equalizes the circulation, and the centering of your thought upon it takes your mind off of yourself.

Vanity—Any of the good grades of soap may be used on the face, but, no matter how fine, there should be enough rinsing to remove all soap from the skin.

Jean—You can keep the armpits shaved or you can use a depilatory.

June—Consult a good doctor about the removal of a mole on the nose. Do not try to do anything with it yourself, for you may produce a scar which would prove more disfiguring.

Mrs. V. T.—You may have some eye strain which is causing the swelling under the eyes, and the deep lines between the brows would confirm this belief. In such a case the cold and hot douches would not be enough to cure you. If you do not get relief very soon, consult the doctor.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

HE CARES

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl nineteen years old. I have been going out with a young fellow four years my senior twice a week for four months. I like him very much as a friend. In fact, I would not like to give him up. I have never in any way tried to chase after him or throw a hint about going out. He has always done the asking himself. He has never tried in any way to be familiar like a great many others when they have gone out with a girl that length of time.

The last time I was out with him, for the first time he put his arm around me and asked me to kiss him good night, but I refused, although I don't know why. Please tell me if it was all right for him to kiss me good night. He has asked to see me again.

I always thought he did not care for me and now I don't know.

BLUE EYES.

It seems to me evident that the young man does care for you. He has shown respect for you and probably did not ask to kiss you until he felt sure that he cared. Unless you love him enough to marry him, I would not advise you to permit him to kiss you. Real love is the only excuse for kissing. Promise-carrying kissing is very cheap in my mind, even if it is upheld by certain people nowadays.

DEEPLY IN LOVE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my twenties and am considered fairly good-looking by most of my friends. I am deeply

Young Housekeeper: "You recently mentioned Short Ribs of Beef in your column. How are these cooked?"

Answer: The short ribs are bones from which most of the meat has been cooked, therefore they are generally used for soups and stews. But many housekeepers steam them as follows: Short Ribs of Beef with Dressing: Make a regular turkey stuffing with dry bread crumbs, chopped raw onions, a pinch of salt and pepper, and some melted butter. Form this moist dressing into circular shape with the hands, then place around it several short ribs which your butcher has chopped in several pieces so as to permit the ribs to form a half-circle. Tie the ribs snugly in place around the outside of the dressing, and wrap each cloth over all, tying it in place with white thread or fine string. Put the little bundle into a deep pot (as if it were a pot-bast) add two cups of boiling water to pot-bottom, put on tight-fitting cover, and let simmer on top of the range for three or four hours. During this time the meat clinging to the bones will come off and adhere to the dressing. (It may be necessary to add a little more boiling water as the first boils away). When done, remove from pot, take off cheese-cloth, gently remove the bones from the mass of dressing, let cool, and serve sliced and cold, like a meat loaf.

Hostess: "I want to give a Mah Jongg party to a few friends and wish you would suggest something novel and appropriate in regard to cake for the occasion."

Answer: Why not frost the cakes with uncooked chocolate icing, then color some plain white uncooked, icing yellow (by mixing with it the uncooked yolk of an egg) and make the Chinese characters (such as are on Mah Jongg tiles) on the chocolate-iced cakes with this yellow icing? Use a toothpick dipped in the yellow icing to "paint" these characters on the chocolate cakes.

B. C. F.: "I recently gave a fancy dress party which was a great success. I asked my guests to 'come in the costume of what you like to be.' Some came as artists, some as poets, some as movie actors, and one as a ghost! I thought your other readers might like to hear about it."

Answer: Indeed, we are glad to hear about it. Success in entertaining often depends upon just such original ideas. Thank you for writing us about it.

Tomorrow—Canning Your Peas.

SOX TO INVADE STRONGHOLD OF PASADENA TEAM

Sawyer's Crew Will Tackle
Merchants at Brookside
Park on Sunday

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff.
With the fifteenth consecutive victory tucked under their belts, Carl Sawyer's White Sox are facing with confidence their game against the Pasadena Merchants at Brookside Park next Sunday afternoon.

There is not a team in this neck of the woods that the White Sox would rather beat than the Merchants, and vice versa. On the occasion of their last visit here, May 4, when they lost, 8 to 6, Lorin Ury, Merchant boss, was as mad as a wet hen. He told Korman that it was impossible to beat the White Sox at Glendale, inferring that the umpires favored the home team.

"But just wait until we get you to Pasadena," he added. Of course his implied charge that the Sox got the best of the decisions was ridiculous, as they get their money regardless of who wins or loses.

Palmer to Pitch

On top of this, there is considerably more than a friendly rivalry between the players on the two teams. Ury has gathered together one of the best teams in southern California, but they have been unsuccessful on three invasions of Glendale. If the Merchants could beat the White Sox next Sunday they would gladly lose every other game this summer.

As the average crowd at a Sunday game at Brookside park is 3500 when just an ordinary attraction is billed, fully 5000 people are expected to witness the struggle next Sunday. Sawyer will have Palmer on the mound again, he says, and that bodes ill for the Merchants. Ury has some great hitters in the three Haas brothers, Fannin and Peddicord, but if Palmer delivers like he did against Jasper Washington's All-Stars, they are apt to cut a sorry figure, especially at the plate.

First Time on Road

This will be the first Sunday in many weeks that the Sox have not played at home. They have to return a game to El Segundo, where the Gilmore Oil yet, and then will enter on another long stretch at home. During their absence next Sunday the Glendale Caseys will take on a visiting team yet to be selected.

Kerwin is all pepped up over the support given him by the committee which attended the lunch last Saturday at the Alhambra Inn. He feels that at last the city is behind him and is making arrangements for a big crowd June 14, when the Sox play the Pacific Fleet All-Stars.

A bear during the winter in the temperate zone lives upon the fat that has been secreted under its skin in the summer months.

LOCAL NET STARS DEFEAT MONROVIA

High School Players Win
Fourth Consecutive
Victory, 17-0

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, Jr.
Of The Evening News Staff.

The Glendale high school tennis team scored its fourth consecutive victory yesterday at Monrovia when they defeated the Wildcats' net team, 17-0. The Foothillers proved to be a stronger team than it was rated to be and the locals had a little more trouble than usual.

Bob Laird put out Nichols, Monrovia first man, in easy style, 6-0, 6-1. Wayne Maxwell, Glendale second man, did nothing but stand in one spot behind the base line and drive. He finally defeated Al Smith of the Foothillers, 6-3, 6-4. Llewellyn White played third man and had little trouble in winning over Adue of the Wild Cats, 6-1, 6-1. Leo Osborne, playing fourth man for the Dynamiters, beat Anderson after a long, drawn out match, 6-3, 6-4.

The doubles were easy for the locals who lost only three games in the four sets. Laird and Maxwell beat Nichols and Smith 6-1, 6-1, while Francis Hardey and White eliminated Adue and Anderson, 6-0, 6-1.

The first and second singles and the first doubles matches were played on a private court some distance from the school in the foothills. The remainder of the matches were played on the one Monrovia court which was at the school. Some time this week or next the local crew will meet the Alhambra Moors in the final match of the Central League season. As the Moors have lost their two first string men the match should be a walkaway for the Dynamiters.

FOR WAR VETERANS

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The House yesterday afternoon passed the Senate bill appropriating $6,500,000 to complete the war veteran hospitalization program. Of this sum, $350,000 will be used to construct a hospital for the veteran blind.

PROMISE ACTION ON CARD TONIGHT

Dempsey to Take on Three
Opponents; Billy Wells
To Meet Duffy

With seats selling at ten, five and three, and only the tens left, according to report, tonight's benefit at Doyle's Vernon arena, with Champion Jack Dempsey as a headliner, promises to be a real sell out. It is estimated that $35,000 will be realized from the show. It is being staged by the Philanthropy and Civics club on behalf of the poor children of Los Angeles.

The card is undoubtedly the best ever arranged on the coast, with Dempsey taking on three men. In addition to this Jimmy Duffy and Billy Wells meet in the headline boxing event.

The full program is as follows: Jack Dempsey vs. Rocco Stragmalia, two rounds.

Dempsey vs. Fred Sullivan, two rounds.

Dempsey vs. Pat Lester, two rounds.

Billy Wells vs. Jimmy Duffy, 145 pounds.

Willie O'Brien vs. Babe Herman, 128 pounds.

Johnny Adams vs. Larry Murphy, 133 pounds.

Don Davis vs. Dode Bercot, catchweights.

Jimmy Hackley vs. Gene Delmont, 135 pounds.

Frankie Grandetta vs. George Rivers, 115 pounds.

Mannie Kaplin vs. Jack White, 160 pounds.

Dynamiters to Play
Alhambra Team Today

The next to last baseball game in the Central league schedule will be run off today when the Glendale high school Dynamiters hook up with the Alhambra Moors on the latter's field at 4 o'clock. So far the locals have won three and lost five. With two games remaining to be played, the Dynamiters are trying hard to break even.

The line-up will be shifted quite a bit for the game, states Bill Shinner, manager of the home team. He is putting Jimmy Stump behind the bat and shifting Elmer Muff to short-stop. Johnny Lovell will move over and play second. Les Lavelle is scheduled to cavort around first with either Ray Gene Doll, a rookie, or Louis Dotson on third. Charlie Smith, Meridith Osborne and Bud Elliot will probably fill the garden positions.

Fred Flinter is expected to start twirling today against the locals with Holmes as relief slabsman. "Fat" Donaldson, 250-pound baby of the Moors, will handle Flinter's slants as bat clean up.

SEATTLE, June 3.—Losing the last game of the series to Oakland here yesterday, 5 to 4, Seattle still managed to nose out Howard's crew in the series, five games to three. Buzz Arlett's homer in the eighth had much to do with the visitors' victory.

Solons Make First Appearance In L. A. Park This Season

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Today will see the Angels and Sacramento Solons open a seven-game series at Washington Park. It will mark the first appearance here this year of Charley Pick and his ball club. Krug plans on either starting Crandall or Root, with the line-up practically the same as Sunday, Durst, an outfielder, at first; himself at second; Beck at short and Whaley, another outfielder, at third.

GLENDALE TEAMS SET WIN RECORD

Sox Won Fifteen Straight,
Legion Eight in Row;
K. C. Heads Loop

Glendale has two ball teams that have played a total of twenty-three games without suffering a defeat—the White Sox fifteen and the American Legion eight. In addition to this the Glendale K. C.'s won the championship of the Southern California K. C. league from Hollywood, and are at the present time looking for fresh worlds to conquer.

This record has seldom been equalled, and certainly never approached in this part of the country. The Sox have met the strongest teams in the southern part of the state, including El Segundo, twice semi-pro champion, and the Pasadena Merchants. The American Legion team has met several fast clubs, although not included in a recognized organization like the White Sox.

In the recently organized K. C. league the local Casays went through the schedule without a defeat, culminating in their championship win at Pasadena. Later they dropped two hard luck games to the Legion.

It has been so long since the Sox lost a game outside of the fiasco with Seattle, that their last defeat is hardly a matter of memory. They have a hard schedule ahead of them and probably will be tumbled from their pedestal before long, although they show no signs of weakening.

Carlocks Are Victors Over Cleaners' Team

The Carlocks ran wild on the Recreation alleys last night in a City league match and beat the Central Cleaners three straight games. In the second game the winners rolled a total of 1034. Covell was high with 228.

Tonight Penner Brothers roll the Gateways.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—Walter Johnson pitched one of the best games of his eighteenth major league career yesterday, holding the Athletics to seven hits, and the Senators won, 8 to 2. Every man on the Washington line-up got one or more hits as three local pitchers were slaughtered.

Cardinals, Pirates, 6.
PITTSBURGH, June 3.—The Pirates made a clean sweep of the four-game series with St. Louis by winning yesterday's game, 6 to 2. It was a real ball game until the eighth when the visitors blew up and Max Carey hit a home run.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

NEW YORK, June 3.—George Kelly beat the Braves yesterday, 9 to 6. He was assisted slightly by several other playmates but his work routed the Bostoners. Kelly scored four runs and hit a home run, a double and a single.

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—The Pirates made a clean sweep of the four-game series with St. Louis by winning yesterday's game, 6 to 2. It was a real ball game until the eighth when the visitors blew up and Max Carey hit a home run.

First Nine Holes
Of Oakmont Course
Ready on Saturday

Golf enthusiasts will learn with interest that the first nine holes of the Oakmont Country club course are to be opened Saturday, June 14. Work on the clubhouse grounds is going ahead, and progress is noted every day.

With the opening of the first unit of the golf course buffet luncheons for golfers will be inaugurated, the first to be served Sunday, June 15.

TIGERS WIN EASY GAME FROM PORTS

Capture Series Six to Two;
Penner Turns In His
Eleventh Victory

PORTLAND, June 3.—The Vernon Tigers made it six out of eight by giving the fast slipping Beavers another walloping yesterday, 15 to 7. Up until the eighth inning it at least had the semblance of a ball game, but in that round and the ninth the Tigers ran bases until their tongues hung out, and it looked as if the local fire department would have to be called on to assist in putting them out.

Ken Penner started for the Tigers and lasted long enough to get credit for his eleventh win, but he was very lucky to do it. Blakesley got six hits in six times up, all of them he-man blows.

CRICUI RETIRES FROM FIGHT RING

Former Featherweight Title
Holder Is Knocked Out
by Danny Frush

PARIS, June 3.—Eugene Criqui, little world war hero of France, and former featherweight champion of the world, is through with the ring. Criqui made the announcement following his defeat by a knockout in the eighth round by Danny Frush, American boxer.

Criqui had trained faithfully for the bout. He had been promised another bout with Johnny Dundee, American champion, who took his title from him last summer, if he won over Frush. Now it will be Frush who will seek a match with the champion.

In announcing his retirement, Criqui declared he had had his day and did not intend to "bite the sawdust" in front of any one else.

"I was licked," he said. "I have no excuses; no broken hands, no broken heart."

president of the Pacific Coast league. Mails drew down the wrath of the league proxy because he threw his bat in Sunday's game at Seattle. Umpire Beans Reardon made the report.

BASEBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about baseball—
If you want a rule interpreted—
If you want to know anything about a play or player—
Write John B. Foster, the man who helped make the rules under which the game is played today. If you want a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.

Address: John B. Foster, Special Baseball Correspondent of The Evening News, 811 World Building, New York.

Copyright, 1924, by The Evening News.

QUESTION—I have seen your decision where a ball hits fair ten feet and then rolls out before it passes a base and how the umpire called the batter out because he did not run on one like that. Was it a fair or foul ball? Are the official rules as good as the others?

ANSWER—It was a foul ball and the batter could not be put out for not running on a foul ball. He could not have been put out for not running on a fair ball. When a batter stops on the base line he simply makes it harder for himself. The official rules are the only rules that are good, but be sure that you have the official rules.

QUESTION—If the batter on the first or second strike strikes at the ball and the ball hits him is he out? ANSWER—He is not. It is a strike however.

QUESTION—If the game is tied and the umpire calls game on account of rain or darkness which team wins? ANSWER—Neither. A tie means exactly what it says.

QUESTION—A runner is on third base and the batter hits a long foul fly. The batter is caught out. Can the runner come home after the ball is caught by the fielder?

ANSWER—The runner may score if he can after a long foul fly is caught exactly as he may score after a long fair fly is caught.

KECK MAY GO TO MAJOR LOOP CLUB

Left Behind by Essick on Northern Trip; Expects
Better Berth

Frank Keck, who was left behind by Bill Essick when the Vernon team went on the northern swing of the Pacific coast circuit, stated today that he expected to get word this week that he had been sold to a club of the American Association.

Last year Keck for a time was regarded as the most promising youngster in the National league, but later he became very wild, and came to the Tigers in the Jackie May deal, along with Kim-nick.

He has pitched one or two good games for Essick this spring, but on the whole has met with indifferent success. He has been working out daily at Washington Park and claims that his arm is in good shape.

Keck is good enough for any league when he has control, but his wildness worked him out of the National loop. Should he regain control he undoubtedly will be grabbed off by one of the majors, as they are searching everywhere for pitching talent.

Is caught by the fielder? ANSWER—The runner may score if he can after a long foul fly is caught exactly as he may score after a long fair fly is caught.

Cafeteria Dinner to Aid Building Fund

TUJUNGA, June 3.—A cafeteria dinner will be given tomorrow at 5 o'clock by the Tujunga Women's club at the school house. Mrs. D. J. Warnick is chairman of the committee.

Baked ham, chicken pie and all the dishes that go with these toothsome foods will be included in the menu. A picked staff of culinary artists are preparing their favorite dishes. There will probably be some impromptu entertaining by local talent and a pleasant social evening is assured for the patrons. Proceeds of the dinner will go to the building fund, which is growing at a healthy rate under the energetic care of President Jones and her loyal club members.

CLUB ACTIVITIES ARE REVIEWED AT ANNUAL MEETING

Madrigal Members Re-elect
Mrs. Paul Hoffman to President's Post

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.
Prosperity, happiness and accomplishment have marked the fifth season of the Glendale Madrigal club, and yesterday club members and a small group of special guests closed the year's activities with a lovely luncheon and business meeting at the Oakmont Country club.

It was the first annual luncheon of the club and it was most fitting that on this occasion honor should be paid Mrs. Charles A. Parker, "mother" of the club, and also the director, and that Mrs. Paul Hoffman, under whose regime as president the club has been put on a sound financial basis, should be re-elected to the presidency.

The luncheon was served on a long table in the smaller dining room of the club. Most attractive table arrangement was carried out by Mesdames Charles Pressey, Ray Bentley, C. M. Taylor and R. N. Slater. To express the club colors, yellow and white, a profusion of yellow daisies, yellow cosmos and dainty white baby's breath was used in artistic baskets. Running the full length of the table was a bank of yellow crepe paper. Added touches of color were seen in the yellow candles flickering in cut glass holders, in the cunning little favors at the places and in the place cards bearing sketches of yellow roses.

List of Guests
Places were marked for Mesdames Roberta A. Young, Casper dimes Roberta T. Young, Casper per, N. M. Knaus, E. B. Moore, L. E. Richardson, William MacMullin, Gertrude Erb, H. V. Henry, Walter Measdy, C. M. Taylor, E. C. Hensel, Charles Cressey, C. L. Viereck, C. C. Coglín, Ella Littlefield, Paul Kugler, R. N. Slater, Susie Hill, Ray Bentley, John Ray, William Kattleman, C. A. Parker, Hatch, Paul A. Hovman, B. L. Cline, Misses Vera Schlotzhauer, Corinne Orff and Katherine V. Sinks.

It was just after the final course that Mrs. Hoffman gave greeting as president of the club. In closing she paid tribute to Mrs. Parker as founder and director of the club, and presented her with a strand of beautiful amber beads with earrings to match.

After a response from Mrs. Parker, Mrs. C. H. Viereck presented Mrs. C. C. Coglín, winner of the contest for the sale of concert tickets, with two pieces of silver. A clever musical toast was given by Mrs. Parker.

During the business hour later reports were given by various officers and chairmen. Indicating the growth of the club was the statement that at the beginning of the year there were twenty-one members in the club and that after a six weeks' membership campaign there were 144.

Income Increases
An outstanding report was that given by the treasurer, showing that during the past year the income of the club had almost tripled that of any previous year. This has meant that club affairs have been on a more solid basis, and it has been possible to spend more money on concert events. The treasurer showed a balance of $44 in the treasury.

Laundry consideration amendments to the constitution it was unanimously agreed that the active membership of the club should be limited to fifty, which means that there will be probably not more than five vacancies to fill in the chorus next year.

Officers elected with Mrs. Hoffman as president, were: Mrs. William MacMullin, re-elected vice president; Mrs. C. M. Taylor, recording secretary; Miss Vera Schlotzhauer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. C. Coglín, treasurer; Mrs. C. L. Viereck, re-elected librarian; Mrs. Susie Hill, director, to serve with Mesdames H. S. Bullinger and S. E. Richardson. Mrs. Parker as club founder and director, is honorary member of the board.

Under Mrs. Hoffman's capable leadership the Madrigal club has grown into one of the prominent musical organizations of the southland. During the past year the club has given two regular concerts, two sacred concerts, taken part in the oratorio department of the Glendale Music club, and taken a prominent part during the local observance of National Music Week.

Mrs. C. L. Viereck, chairman of publicity for the past year, in her report, expressed sincere appreciation to The Glendale Evening News for the generous publicity given club affairs during the season.

Party Motors to Land Of Cherries and Back

With ideal early summer weather prevailing, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Pingree of 404 West Dryden street and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Fryer and son Lloyd of 434 West Dryden street enjoyed a recent three days' motor trip. Leaving Glendale they motored to Lake Elsinore by way of Chino and Corona. Continuing inland through Perris, they went through Cimoteo canyon and up into the Beaumont cherry country. The trip home was through San Bernardino and on the Foot-hill boulevard.

COMMENT That's All

Amid Cabbage Plants
Circulate Amid Vegetables
Can't Stand Competition?
News' Features Timely

By Gil A. Cowan

The San Pedro Daily Pilot asks:

"Wonder if any audit company certifies as legitimate circulation the wagon loads of Los Angeles Express publications which the Jap farmers haul over the hills to cover tomato and cabbage plants?"

It is a very pertinent question, not only in San Pedro, but in Glendale. An audit of any newspaper circulation which inserted or wrapped around another publication for no extra charge—an audit of such circulation amounts to nothing for there is nothing to audit in the way of bona fide subscriptions to either one of the two publications.

A little thought for our readers:

When theatres withdraw their advertising—go on strike, as it were—because a newspaper accepts advertising from a tent show competitor, does it not indicate that they are being hurt?

And does it not prove that they cannot stand competition?

Certainly, if I were a theatre manager I would advertise a good show. I would not bite off my nose to spite my face.

Nor would I open the avenues of opposition to motion pictures. I would play the game like a man, methinks.

Did you read David Lawrence's article yesterday on the changes in federal tax provisions? It was timely—yes, it was information carried in this morning's metropolitan papers.

Did you read George T. Hughes' advice to investors on the market page? The first of a series which you should follow, folks.

These are only two of more than a score of features in The Glendale Evening News.

This paragraph of publicity is worth space and thought:

"Twenty years ago the United States took up the tremendous task of joining the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by the Panama Canal. The total appropriations for the construction of this enormous undertaking have aggregated $35,000,000. During the past twenty years the Bell Telephone System has spent on net plant additions alone more than enough money to build four Panama canals, and is now spending on these net plant additions an amount of money sufficient to build a Panama canal every seventeen months."

committee reported that no building could be secured large enough to accommodate the large crowd expected and that a permit had been secured for the erection of a large tent at the corner of California and Brand. Construction work on the 40x70 foot stage was started yesterday.

Lots of Excitement
Special entertainment is to be provided at the ceremonial and K. A. Lewis, chairman of the entertainment committee, has arranged for some fine talent to appear on the program. D. Ripley Jackson, who is in charge of stunts for the celebration, declares that the social time after the ceremonial will be "no ordinary party."

Toparch H. M. Bennett has announced in proclamation that the celebration Saturday will be "the greatest slaughter of Raw Meat since the dawn of time." The gallant sons of the Nile have long gone unsatisfied and their hunger must be appeased. Fifty-two writhing chunks of fresh raw meat will be provided by the rank and file of the Pyramid for torture and torment, to amuse the hordes assembled for our celebration.

LECTURER TELLS EVILS OF DRUGS

Effect of All Narcotics on System to Be Explained
By Jack Lee

An opportunity to hear a lecture on the drug evil is offered Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week, June 4 and 5, at Hahn's auditorium, 109 North Brand boulevard, by Jack Lee of New York, who claims that he is a reformed drug addict.

Mr. Lee will be assisted by his 17-year-old daughter, Mary Lee. The topic of his lecture is announced as "Exposure of the Drug Evil." The time is 8 o'clock and the speaker extends a special invitation to children. He states that the lecture is free.

Jack Lee declares that he has had 15 years of actual experience among dope addicts in New York's underworld and China-

KIRK TALKS AT FINAL MEET ON FOREIGN TRAVEL

Hi-Y Boys Hear Accounts of Old World Journey at Lecture In Park

Tales of foreign travel told last night by W. B. Kirk to over seventy Hi-Y boys and leaders gathered in Patterson park for an outdoor meeting proved most fascinating and brought to a close one of the most successful years in local Hi-Y history.

Mr. Kirk, whose travel letters in The Glendale Evening News, proved of such interest to Glendale people, told the company last night of the interesting places he was privileged to visit while abroad.

Talks on Germany

The boys were fascinated by his description of the Scandinavian countries, of the political and economic conditions in Germany, of the Holy Land and of King Tut's tomb.

Mr. Kirk told many things about conditions in Germany that he could not include in his travel letters. He stressed the fact that while Germany was defeated in the World war and while terrible political and economic conditions exist within her borders, nevertheless she is to be closely reckoned with by other nations of the world, particularly the United States.

The meeting last night was the final Hi-Y affair of the year. The boys arrived at the park at an early hour for a plunge in the pool before supper.

For supper steaks were fried over an open fire and potatoes baked. The menu also included hot rolls, fruit and lemonade.

To Buy Radio Set

Robert Hatch, president, conducted a short business hour. He and Floyd Craft and Everett Anderson were announced as a committee to spend $50.50 raised by the Hi-Y for a radio receiving set for the Barlow sanitarium.

Another committee was announced to arrange for sending two under-privileged boys to the summer camp July 3 to 14 at Catalina.

Officers of the organization and Rex C. Kelley, executive, took occasion to thank all leaders who have taken part in the year's successful work.

NEBRASKAN WILL MAKE HOME HERE

A. U. Marshall Will Dispose Of Mid-West Holdings
To Come to Calif.

Charles Marshall of 525 South Central avenue, has been having the pleasure of entertaining in his Glendale home his brother, A. U. Marshall, former mayor of Omaha, Nebraska. Upon leaving for his home Mr. Marshall expressed the intention of settling up business affairs in Nebraska and returning to make his future home in California.

Upon coming west Mr. Marshall brought three car loads of Nebraska corn-fed hogs to the Los Angeles market. He reports that he found the market good, better than Omaha or Kansas City.

Confounded Reports
He is delighted with Glendale and California. He states that in Omaha, Kansas City, Chicago and all through the middle west, erroneous reports are being circulated that California conditions are bad. He says he considers the reports due to jealousy, to stop the exodus of mid-western people to California.

It is interesting to learn that Mr. Marshall is the youngest of a remarkable family of nine, all living. He is 56 years of age and the oldest is 73, making a total age of the nine 586 years. A. U. Marshall of Glendale is hoping that ere long the six boys and three girls of this family of nine will be located in Southern California.

town, and states that he will analyze the effects of narcotics on the human system. Fifteen million people in this country are addicts, he declares, and the welfare of the coming generation is menaced.

The lecturer states that pulpit, press and civic organizations have endorsed him. On his platform he has an Oriental "dope den" similar to those found in underground dives. He appears in the costume of a Chinese coolie.

PIANO STUDENTS WIN PRAISE FOR VARIED PROGRAM

Alberta M. Green Presents
Pupils in Recital at Hahn Auditorium

The program presented last night by the pupils of Miss Alberta M. Green, teacher of piano, of 128 Harvard Court, was accorded most deserving compliments when they appeared in Hahn's auditorium, 109-A North Brand boulevard, in a piano recital before a large and appreciative audience.

Miss Green was assisted by Vernon Spencer of Los Angeles, a prominent teacher, pianist and composer. Mr. Spencer is widely known for his artistic playing and has taught for twelve years advanced piano playing both here and abroad.

All pupils demonstrated ability as pianists and showed that they not only possessed ability but were well trained, as was exhibited by the technique of each pupil.

Teachers Address
During the recital Mr. Spencer gave a short address pertaining to music in general and piano playing.

The following program was presented: "Up Hill and Down" (Goodrich); "Serenade" (Gaynor); "Skipping Rope" (L. Smith); Betty Jane Uhl; "Lullabye"; "Dance of the Fireflies" (Goodrich); Fernora Weaver; "The Owl"; "Butterfly Chase" (H. Smith); Virginia Blake; "Dance of the Elves" (Gaynor); "Little Mimic" (Goodrich); Laurine Weaver; "Robin Goodfellow"; "A Good Time" (Goodrich); Mary Stapp; "Alabama Cabin" (Cadmán); Laura Louise Randall; "Dickory Dickory Dock"; "Dance" (Goodrich); June Culhane; "To A Weeping Willow" (Spencer); "Wooden Shoe Dance" (Rogers); Carolyn Spradling; "March" (Reinhold); Lawrence McIntyre; "Day Dreams"; "Elfin Dance" (Goodrich); Cecelia Stapp; "Valsette" (Borowski); Martha Jones; two duets: "The Lake"; "Spring" (D'Ouville); Constance Boynton and Gratia Boynton; "Night Song" (Lynn); "Pierrette" (Chaminade); Noel Culhane; "Nodding Ferns" (Helm); "Songsters on the Boughs" (Helm); "Woodland Sprites" (Helm); Dorothy Howe; "Pas des Amphores" (Chaminade); Constance Boynton; "Danse Caprice" (Greig); Genevieve Burr; "Les Sylphides" (Chaminade); Gratia Boynton; "Crescendo" (Lasson); Ansil Breniman.

The Sohmer grand piano used was loaned through the courtesy of Baker Brothers of Los Angeles.
